PARLIAMENT TO MEET AT MIDDLE OF OCTOBER

Schleicher May Be Chancellor of Germany Plans For Session Of M.P.'s Made To-day As British Trade Pact Drafted

Proposal Is Grouping of Centrists and Hitlerites, With Gen. von Schleicher, Present Minister of Defence, As Chancellor

Fiery Outburst
By J. Goebbels

Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches
Berlin, Aug. 15.—Possibility that Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, the affable soldier-junker, who is Minister of Defence and the recognized power in the present cabinet, might be Germany's new Chancellor, appeared today.

With the country quiet over the week-end, following the collapse of the bid of Adolf Hitler, Nazi leader, for the chancellorship Saturday, party newspapers began putting out feelers to form a coalition of the Hitlerites and the Centrists, with Gen. von Schleicher at its head.

The state also included Dr. Franz Bracht, now virtual dictator of the state of Prussia and Mayor of Essen, as Premier of Prussia.

The Nazis and Centrists would be represented in the cabinet, according to the press suggestions, on the basis of two to one.

NEW CAMPAIGN
In to-day's edition of the newspaper Angriff there was a bitter editorial by Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, and reputed to be one of the most powerful figures in the Nazi movement. It announced a new campaign against the von Papen government and warned the ultimate triumph of the party was inevitable.

Another article gave the schedule for various week-end social events, urging the storm troopers now on an eight-day furlough to "join in and have a good time before the new fight begins."

UNDER ONE BANNER
The writer asserted Chancellor von Papen would face the "embittered resistance of all nationalistic Germany rallied under our banner. What is denied us is a position similar to that attained by Premier Mussolini after the Fascists march on Rome.

The cabinet set at rest a rumor that the Reichstag might not be summoned by announcing that it would be called within the time provided by the constitution, and not later than August 30.

The cabinet to-day went ahead with its plan for changing the constitution by providing for a senate to act as a check on the Reichstag and by reforming the election laws.

Duff Transportation Report Ready Soon

Commission Will Meet in Ottawa To-morrow to Draft Recommendations For Canada's Railways

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Canada's royal commission on transportation will meet to-morrow for consideration of its report. Lord Ashfield, member of the commission from the United Kingdom, will be present at the meeting, and it is anticipated all the other members will be here. Rt. Hon. L. P. Duff, chairman of the commission, will preside.

The report, it is now anticipated, will be ready some time between the middle and the end of next month. To-morrow submissions from the secretary will be laid before the commissioners, and they will take them into consideration. Preparation of them has involved perusal and review of the documents collected during the sittings of the commission throughout Canada.

No definite decision has been reached yet as to whether the report will be made public as soon as ready or if it will be held until the next session of parliament. The feeling is that the report will be published immediately, unless as suggested parliament should be called to meet about the middle of October. In that event it might be held up until the opening of the session and tabled then.

COTTON MILL CRISIS NEAR

If Work in England Stops August 27 About 500,000 Persons Will Suffer

Dispute Is Over Questions of Wages and Hours of Work

Associated Press
Blackburn, Eng., Aug. 15.—A grave crisis threatened the British cotton industry in Lancashire to-day with a decision by the central board of the Northern Counties Textile Trades Federation to withdraw all workers on August 27 unless the present dispute over a new wage agreement is settled.

A general stoppage in the weaving and spinning sections of the trade would affect nearly 500,000 operatives. The dispute is the culmination of negotiations which have been proceeding since last December, when the mill-owners served notice of their intention to end the wages and hours agreement under which the industry has been operating for a decade.

Luke Bates, secretary, said the federation had no alternative but to recommend withdrawal unless the employees made more reasonable proposals.

HURRICANE KILLS SCORE

Damage to Growing Cotton in Texas Estimated at More Than $1,000,000

Many Buildings Unroofed; Reports Awaited From Number of Districts

Associated Press
Houston, Tex., Aug. 15.—The death toll mounted to twenty-two to-day as farming communities near the Gulf of Mexico coast surveyed widespread damage from the tropical hurricane that struck the vicinity of Houston and Galveston Saturday evening and yesterday.

Most of the fatalities were in villages or on farms about thirty miles southwest of Galveston, where the greatest force of the storm apparently centred.

Crops were ruined over a wide stretch of the coastal country, the heaviest loss being in cotton. Galveston, protected by its sea wall, and Houston, escaped damage of major proportions, although windows were smashed, some building unroofed and bathhouses and small frame structures demolished.

The wind rose to seventy miles an hour here.

Many injured. Scores of persons were injured during the storm, which swept in from the Gulf Saturday evening and finally spent its force late Sunday.

WON HONORS AT OLYMPICS

Local Marksman Second Out of 200 Crack Shots in Trapshooting Finals

After winning second place out of 200 of North America's best trapshooters entered the Olympic trapshooting championships at Los Angeles, Douglas McGary, manager of the Victoria Pile Driving Co. Ltd., returned to Victoria to-day with his laurels, gained August 2 at Douglas Airfield, headquarters of the Los Angeles Trapshooting Club.

In the sixteen-yard finals in A class, Mr. McGary scored 198 out of a possible 200, a score beaten only by one man, William Magee, San Francisco, California champion and one of the best shots in the United States. Mr. Magee made a possible 200.

"I was shooting far above my head," is Mr. McGary's modest explanation of his feat, which automatically places him among the leading shots on the continent. The local man was enthusiastic about the games.

With one of the largest lists on record, entries for the annual Provincial Exhibition at the Willows closed Saturday evening. During the whole of last week, the staff in the special exhibition office in the Sayward Building were kept busy handling the entries of exhibitors in all sections, and officials of the B.C. Agricultural Association, after a preliminary survey this morning, announced that the entry total was near record figures. They have not been completely sorted up to the present time.

October 13 Mentioned as Possible Date; Delegates Pressing Forward With Arrangement of New Trade Terms Between Dominion and United Kingdom

Committee Of Cabinet Meets

Bennett and Other Ministers Discuss Terms of Imperial Conference Agreements With Other Dominions

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Parliament may assemble at the middle of October to give effect to the agreements made at the present Empire Economic Conference. It is explained the government had favored November 3 or thereabouts for the opening of the session, but that was based on the expectation the conference would last a couple of weeks longer than seems probable at present. Accordingly, the question will be considered as soon as the conference is over.

Parliament usually opens its sessions on Thursdays. The Thursday nearest the middle of October will be October 13.

By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The Canadian-United Kingdom trade pact is being drafted. Official intimation was given shortly before the luncheon hour to-day. It came after meetings of delegates, a long sitting of the Canadian cabinet and a session of the sub-committee of the Dominion cabinet.

Premier Bennett and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin had several conversations. Both heads had received details from their technical officers who examined during the week-end several items to be covered in the trade agreement. With a few remaining details to be worked out, decision was made to start the drafting of the treaty.

In the East Block, cabinet ministers gathered in council at 10 o'clock. Mr. Bennett discussed with his colleagues the result of his morning discussions. The sub-committee on trade and tariff matters, headed by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, was again put to work.

Not only the Canadian-United Kingdom proposed treaty, but agreements with every other Dominion was before the sub-committee.

By W. W. Murray, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The last week of the Imperial Conference opened to-day with all delegations hard at work trimming off their various "bi-laterals." As it was anticipated that developments of the conference have forced discussions into channels which have precluded "one wide" general agreement, although making provisions for the future.

Ottawa Delegates Plan Voyages Home

By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, British Secretary of State for the Colonies, may visit Vancouver and Victoria. However, the former Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme was understood this morning. "It will depend on developments, state and personal, whether I shall see your Pacific Coast before the Imperial Conference closes its work," Sir Philip stated. He is in Canada for the first time.

Malcolm MacDonald will visit the Lake of the Woods district in Ontario for a week. The son of Great Britain's Prime Minister regretted he would be unable to proceed farther west than Kenora.

Mr. MacDonald said he wanted to enjoy a "Canadian holiday" after the conference before returning to resume his Parliamentary duties.

Lord Hailsham will be in Calgary for the opening of the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association on August 31. The former Lord Chancellor intimated to-day he would likely visit other parts of Canada before returning to London, but so far had made no fixed arrangements.

BIG CROWD KEEPS CHIEF FROM FIRE

Throngs at Blaze in Portland Estimated Up to 30,000

Portland, Ore., Aug. 15.—Fire which investigators to-day believed may have been incendiary, destroyed the abandoned Vernon school here yesterday evening with a loss of about $50,000. Firemen said the blaze apparently had smoldered several hours in the attic before it broke forth in a huge torch which was visible in all parts of the city.

Crowds totaling 20,000 or 30,000 persons flocked to the fire, choking streets for many blocks in all directions. Fire Chief Grenfell complained he had tried four different routes, finding all so blocked with private cars that even his shrieking siren could not clear a path for his machine.

The building, twenty years old, was to have been dismantled this fall.

BOR GROUP EXPELS M.P.'S

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Two members of House of Commons, David Kirk and Neil MacLean, have been expelled from the Independent Labor Party following its open break with the Labor party, and in accordance with a decision not to tolerate any more actively campaigning against the party.

In the Commons, and has served as a member of the National Council of the Independent Labor Party and in the left wing of the Labor movement. During the war he was a member of the Clyde Workers' Committee, which organized a series of strikes.
Member for Govan since 1918, Mr. MacLean has also been an active left wing Socialist.
A long list of proposed expulsions from the Independent Labor Party includes the name of Rt. Hon. Thomas Johnston, who was Lord Privy Seal in the Labor Government in 1931, who lost his seat in the general election of October 27.
The regular Labor Party, led in the Commons by Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, now finds itself without the cooperation of both the National Labor members, who support the government, and the I.L.P. members, led by James Maxton, who go on their own way.

HERRIOT REPLIES TO STIMSON

Premier Says France Must Be Prepared to Defend Herself

Associated Press
Metz, France, Aug. 15.—Premier Edouard Herriot replied in forceful terms yesterday to references by President Herbert Hoover and United States Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson in recent speeches to the Briand-Kellogg peace pact.
At the opening of a canal here he declared that while France was on the side of peace, she must be forever vigilant because she still was confronted with "appeals to violence."
"We hear the voices of friends who assure us war has been forever exorcised," he said. "We would like to believe them, and without delay associate ourselves with their optimism."
"It is easier to conceive in a country practically inviolate than on this soil, so often torn up. Despite the most solemn engagements, despite the Briand-Kellogg pact which Secretary

Moscow, Aug. 15.—Another step toward easing relations between Soviet Russia and Japan, which have been especially strained as a result of the Manchurian conflict, was taken yesterday when it was announced the dispute over Pacific Coast fishing rights had been settled.
This dispute for a long time has troubled relations between Moscow and Tokyo.
Under a special agreement signed by the Soviet Government will refrain from auctioning to the highest bidder 330 holdings out of a total of 590 involved in the Russo-Japanese fishing convention of 1928. No action will be taken in regard to these holdings until 1936. This means Japanese concessions will not be disturbed for four years.

BOGUS COINS PASSED AT PARK

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—According to police a number of bogus fifty cent pieces of a type similar to those which have been flooding Hastings Park amusement concessions on Saturday. ## CABINET FOR EMPIRE VETOED

Central Council Plan For Commonwealth Rejected at Ottawa Conference

By THOMAS GREEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Proposal for the establishment of an empire council or cabinet will go by the board. In highest-informed Imperial Conference circles, this statement is definitely made.
"The attitude is against that kind of centralization," a leading authority stated. "The suggestion has only been considered in a cursory way during conference deliberations, and the consensus, particularly among some of the dominions, is that nothing of this nature should take place for the present."
For some time, reports have been published that an empire council or cabinet would be set up, giving representation to each part of the Commonwealth. Premier Bennett has been frequently mentioned as the Canadian member on the mooted body. Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin and Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain have been rumored as the likely representatives of Great Britain. Former Premier Stanley Bruce, Australia, Sir Atul Chatterjee, India, Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, Australia, Hon. H. C. Havenga, South Africa, and either Premier F. G. Alderdice or Hon. E. L. Emerson from Newfoundland. No name had been suggested for the Irish Free State or southern Rhodesia, although the proposal included these two dominions.
A new empire marketing board and an empire research council will hardly develop from the present conference, it is further learned on high authority. Centralization of empire efforts in both instances was the basis of these proposals. Both schemes have been under discussion.

POLICE HUNTING COWARDLY THUG

Insinger, Sask., Aug. 15.—Police today were searching for a cowardly gunman who robbed an aged woman of $10 of her old age pension and shot and wounded an aged man when he refused to surrender his pension cheque.
Todor Feduskiak, seventy-two, was attacked at the door of his home by the unknown man, but managed to get inside and slam the door. The gunman then pushed a rifle through a window and demanded the cheque. When Feduskiak seized the rifle, he was shot and wounded. The gunman fled and the terrified old man and his wife spent the night hiding in a wheat field.
An hour earlier the gunman had entered the home of Mrs. Axenia Gravel, seventy-two, and taken $10 from her at the point of a revolver.

FARMERS HEAR THEIR PREMIER

Alberta Agrarians Totalling 1,200 Addressed By Brownlee on Problems

Canadian Press
Drumheller, Alta., Aug. 15.—Members of the United Farmers of Alberta joined in a big rally here Saturday and heard addresses from Premier Brownlee and leaders of the farmer body. It was the first rally of its kind and 1,200 people attended.
Premier Brownlee's address was confined to questions of provincial importance, and he stressed the limited power his government had in controlling conditions prevailing at present. He said he believed the credit system of Canada was due for a change, and he declared himself in favor of moderate inflation of currency.
More money would be placed in circulation, he continued, if the bonus on wheat was continued. The Alberta Premier also believed Canada should go off the gold standard and that a new credit system would have to appear if the farmers was to overcome the present situation.
In criticizing those who attacked his administration, the Premier pointed out the Alberta Government was carrying on business "with the lowest form of taxation of all the provinces west of the Great Lakes."

POINTS TO ONTARIO
Answering all opposition charges, Premier Brownlee emphatically denied extravagance on the part of his government. He declared that in Ontario when the Drury farmer government was defeated on an extravagance cry by the Conservatives, it resulted in the Ontario capital debt being increased by a big sum.
The Premier said he was very annoyed when visiting in the east to find bank buildings costing $20,000, 500 when the institutions refused to loan farmers money for binder twine. He advised the farmers to go to their banks and their cases would be dealt with.
He denied government responsibility for the Turner Valley gas conservation dispute, declaring that under his conservation scheme the production would be extended.
"The Imperial Oil does not dominate the government," he continued, "but it had obtained control of 60 per cent of the Turner Valley acreage before the provincial government took over control of natural resources."
Unemployment and the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa were included in Premier Brownlee's remarks. He believed the unemployment situation could be solved "if we would forget our constitution and organize a peace-time army." He declared the unemployed transient situation and hoped for an agreement on unemployment relief between the provinces and the Dominion.

SAYS VOICE NEEDED
"If nothing is done at the Imperial Conference, it will be because western opinions have not been strongly enough focused on the powers that be," he concluded.
J. S. Woodworth, Labor M.P. for Winnipeg North Centre, described the formation of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, a labor-farmer body formed in Calgary two weeks ago. He predicted the federation would have a large number of candidates in the field at the next general election. The federation stood for change in economic system, he explained.
Robert Gardner, M.P. for Acadia, and president of the U.F.A., outlined the plan for a social state in the Dominion. The people, he said, were going to take things into their own hands and see conditions for the masses were improved.

NEW BUSINESS DRIVE IN U.S.

Hoover Calls Leader to Conference at White House August 26

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Hoover has set August 26 as the date of a White House conference of the business and industrial committees of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts, "for the purpose of organizing a concerted program of action along the whole economic front."
"The conference will deal with specific projects where definite accomplishments in business, agriculture and employment can be attained and will co-ordinate the mobilization of private and governmental instrumentalities to that end," Mr. Hoover said.
The chief executive added he planned to appoint special committees to deal with questions directly concerning agriculture, labor, railways and other industries.
Mr. Hoover enumerated the subjects to be "considered and definitely coordinated," as follows:
"A canvas of the means, methods, agencies and powers available in the country for general advancement; wider expansion of credit facilities to business and industry where consumption of goods is assured; co-ordination and expansion of financial facilities for the movement of commodities into consumption; expansion of programmes for repairs and maintenance of the railways; and creation of organizations for further spread of existing employment and expansion of employment."

Among "possible questions" to come up for consideration the President listed the coming World Economic Conference, protection of bond holders and mortgage renewals and co-ordination with trade groups.

WHAT WILL HITLER DO?

UNTIL HE HAS DISCUSSED THE MATTER with his party's chief lieutenants to-morrow the world will not know how Adolf Hitler will take President Paul von Hindenburg's denial of his demand for the Chancellorship of Germany. The interview between the two on Saturday lasted only fifteen minutes, the aged Field-Marshal entreating the Nazi leader to be satisfied with a cabinet position, and Hitler replying that he would take the Chancellorship or nothing. The outcome was an announcement that the Von Papen ministry would remain in office. The President has gone back to his summer home; but events within the next forty-eight hours may compel his return.

As already suggested in these columns, it is an open question whether a government headed by Hitler would be any better than the one now headed by Von Papen. But the fact remains that while the present Chancellor represents no particular party, save that he and his colleagues are of the militarist-monarchist persuasion, the Nazi leader will have no fewer than 229 representatives in the new Reichstag, or ninety-six more than the next largest party. Hitler himself, who has announced that the policy of his followers will be one of determined opposition to the government as at present constituted, may prefer to bide his time in the hope that new elections at a later date may give him a majority of seats. It is plain, however, that in the Nazi ranks there are many hot-headed members who will consider they have been cheated of their right to be in power and will demand that Hitler take belligerent action forthwith.

In such an eventuality as this, of course, Hitler's "storm troops" would immediately be up against such armed forces as the Von Papen ministry would be able to mobilize—and a real and bitter civil war would be on in earnest, with the Communists probably throwing in their weight on the side of the anti-government forces. This may be a gloomy view to take of the situation in Germany. At the same time, it must be obvious to Hitler that his cause has about reached its zenith, and that if he does not seize the authority which the President denied him on Saturday, his prestige with his own party will go into a decline. In this aspect of the situation lies the political dynamite. And it is a situation in which the world is interested.

ALEXANDER'S SOLDIERS AND CANDY

THE FACT THAT IT WAS THE soldiers of Alexander the Great who put the word "candy" into general circulation is probably not a discovery that will cause history-books to be rewritten. But it is one of those little sidelights on history that mean a great deal to those who like to get a really human picture of the men of long ago.

This business about candy, as you probably remember, was disclosed before a recent convention of chemists at Johns Hopkins University.

Alexander's soldiers, it seems, got into India during Alexander's great expedition to the east, and found the populace addicted to nibbling at bits of sweet root—something, evidently, very like sugar cane. The people of India called this confection "kand"; Alexander's soldiers, adopting both the confection and the word, soon made "candy" part of the language, and the word has stuck ever since.

But it is not so much the origin of the word that is interesting as it is the light that the little story throws on the fighting men of Macedonia. Soldiers, apparently, were soldiers, in the fourth century B.C., as they are in the twentieth A.D. Modern soldiers have an insatiable fondness for candy; so, apparently, had the soldiers of Alexander's army.

And this, after all, is the sort of information we are always looking for in our history books and seldom finding. We are told in great detail about what the famous old armies did, but we do not often get much detail about the soldiers themselves; and it is details of that kind that would make history really fascinating.

The Macedonians' fondness for candy is only a starter. What more can we learn about them? Did that army have its hard-boiled pot sergeants? Did the buck privates grouse continually over their food? Were there "dog robbers" for the officers?

Questions like these are utterly unimportant; but they are the sort of thing that a lot of people would like very much to know. Alexander's men, for instance, will always seem a little more human to us because of this little anecdote about the candy.

CANADIAN WOOL

THE NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL of Canada has for some years been making an investigation into the problems of the woolen industry of the Dominion with a view to making larger use of home-grown wool. Advantage was taken of the last Dominion census to make as complete a collection as possible of statistics relating to the wool clip, and material thus secured has now been made the subject of a special study by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Information secured from farmers was collated with that furnished by wool dealers and by manufacturers, in order to ascertain what proportion of the Canadian wool clip reached the commercial market, what proportion was sold to Canadian manufacturers, and how much was exported.

It is estimated, as a result of this study, that the Canadian wool clip for 1931 totaled 20,365,000 pounds on a greasy basis. This estimate is founded on an actual count of the sheep and lambs in Canada during the taking of the seventh census last summer, the count disclosing 1,933,000 sheep and 1,675,000 lambs. By allowing 7½ pounds a fleece for sheep and 3½ pounds a fleece for lambs, the total of 20,365,000 pounds is obtained.

Competent authorities calculate that of the total clip some 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 pounds were not placed on the open market but remained in the hands of farmers for their personal use. The remainder was disposed of by pullers, abattoirs, wool dealers and manufacturers. Wool was reported to the Bureau of Statistics in various grades, and was compiled in the first instance exactly as received. For the purposes of comparison, however, all grades were reduced to an estimated greasy basis. This was done in the case of pulled wool by adding to it an amount equal to one-third of its weight, and in the case of scoured wool by doubling its weight. On the greasy basis 15,564,013 pounds have been accounted for, as to its disposition, which, with the estimated 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 pounds in the hands of the farmers, gives the total estimated clip of 20,365,000 pounds.

Sales of Canadian wool to Canadian manufacturers during the calendar year 1931 amounted to 8,338,584 pounds on a greasy basis; and wool sold for export during the same period amounted to 5,487,055 pounds. The total of Canadian wool going to Canadian manufacturers and sold for export during 1931 was 13,825,639 pounds, which is short of the amount of pulled wool and wool purchased by farmers by 1,738,374 pounds. It is assumed by the Bureau of Statistics that this 1,738,374 pounds represents an increase in stocks in the hands of various dealers at the close of 1931.

MR. VINCENT MARTIN

MANY IN VICTORIA WHO KNEW MR. Vincent C. Martin will extend their sincere sympathy to his widow and children who are mourning his sudden death on Saturday. For twenty years he had lived in this city, part of that time occupying the important position of Assistant Surveyor of Taxes, and the rest in the private practice of accountancy. While in the government service he was an industrious and conscientious servant, and in business on his own account he had built up a reputation which won for him a large connection. Mr. Martin was of a reserved disposition; but he was a keen student of public affairs and having traveled extensively in his younger days had a large fund of information about the world and its peoples. He had filled many offices in Freemasonry, while he also was a popular member of the Royal Colwood and the Gorge Vale golf clubs.

H.R.H. MICHAEL—BOY SCOUT

CROWN PRINCE MICHAEL OF ROMANIA, who was a full-time king for a while, despite his extreme youth, until his father, Carol, decided to return to the throne, is now a Boy Scout. A recent news dispatch remarks that he became a member at the suggestion of his father.

Canadians who got used to photographs of the chubby-faced youngster during his brief career as king will undoubtedly agree that he ought to be happier now than he was in his kingship. A boy of Michael's years has no business being king, or even crown prince—there is no fun in it; but being a Boy Scout is a different matter.

If his membership in the famous organization helps Michael to forget that he is hedged about with the distinctions of royalty, and enables him to get a little of that carefree outdoor play which is the heritage of children of more lowly birth, he will be very much better off.

A DEAD ISSUE

WE ARE TOLD IN A DISPATCH FROM Ottawa to-day that the proposal for an empire council or cabinet will go by the board. A leading authority is quoted as having said that "the attitude is against this kind of centralization."

There never was any chance of the formation of such a body, although the subject invariably crops up at each conference. Empire centralization is an out-of-date idea, the project having been finally disposed of by the Statute of Westminster.

The empire will get along best by each part of it attending to its own business and with such exchange of ideas as may be considered mutually beneficial. One of the chief results of the present conference at Ottawa will be the better knowledge the representatives of the Dominions will have acquired of one another.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BRITAIN'S TARIFF
 The Christian Science Monitor

Britain has become a protectionist country, and is not likely to change again in a hurry. But the position may easily be misunderstood. An overwhelming majority of the country, and even a majority of the now ascendant Conservative Party, is in a certain sense still "free trade" in its sympathies. That is to say, if the countries with which they trade were willing to abolish tariffs, they would be delighted to reciprocate.

The heart of England, paradoxical as it may sound, is as much in favor of the open door at the very moment when it is imposing taxes as it has ever been in the heyday of free trade.

THE PERSISTENCE OF CHARMS
 The Toronto Globe

All the culture and sophistication of the modern world does not seem to affect the little superstitions of mankind; such, for example, as the carrying of charms, lucky coins and things of that nature. This is revealed by a despatch from Los Angeles relating that the athletes assembled there from forty-eight countries have this queer weakness.

Even representatives of the furiously up-to-date United States wear lucky racing suits under their new Olympic garb. A New Zealand cyclist has the wishbone of a chicken attached to his handlebars. Before entering the lists Japanese athletes eat what they regard as a victory chestnut. And so it is with most of these young athletes.

But a Danish representative and his charm call for special mention. The Danes are a practical people, and this is made evidently by a runner who, when in action, carries in his left hand—and this is important—a miniature Mickey Mouse.

It will be just as well not to laugh at this. The Mickey Mouse has been honored by more pretentious personages than this Danish sprinter, and has achieved a place in the records of important trade negotiations. Even big business may not be entirely free from these harmless superstitions. Of course, they are not always efficacious, as witness the recent failure of the amateur, generally considered lucky, in Toronto real estate enterprises.

A THOUGHT

So he fed them according to the integrity of his heart; and guided them by the skillfulness of his hands.—Psalm lxxviii, 72.
 What we frankly give, forever is our own.—Granville.

Loose Ends

By all means let us build the road and let the public in—the matter of politics and all that—and the valuable advice of experts which must not be ignored.

By H. B. W.

THE GOOD people who live half-way up our island, and who took me the other day to the Forbidden Plateau, think I should advocate the construction of a road to that magic land of heather, lakes and panicles. I suppose I shall have to advocate such a road. I suppose I shall have to admit that it would be an expensive project and would be justified by the financial results, that it would be crowded with automobiles and tourists from the United States in khaki breeches and high-heeled slippers. I suppose I must confess that it would bring a lot of money into the country and give the public easy access to one of the choice places of the earth. But that's just the trouble. The public has no right to such easy access. It will never appreciate what it sees when it gets there. It doesn't appreciate what it sees on our existing highway system. To appreciate a wilderness of that sort, to appreciate any of the natural beauties of British Columbia, the visitor must get into the bush and the most important thing is not to get into the bush, but to get out of it. The way to make sure that a place will not be appreciated is to build a road to it.

TO APPRECIATE the Forbidden Plateau or Butte Lake or any of the places off the highway, you must work for your reward. You must walk there on foot and arrive with the glow of exercise and a sharp pain at the base of your back. You must toil all day and sleep all night under the stars and get the smell of the earth and the countryside, which no one can do while he sits on plush cushions behind plate glass. Everybody who has walked in the woods will understand what I mean and call me blessed. The others won't understand and will think I am madder than usual. There is no hope for them. They will continue to be pioneers on plush cushions, they will continue to get close to nature on the inside of plate glass windows, they will continue to bring clouds of road dust into the wilderness and pollute the pure air with gasoline. One of these days, enough people having advocated a road, they will invade the Forbidden Plateau in thousands, and the edge of their fat selves on the edge of Croesus's Lake, and send them back home to their friends in Barmia and Syracuse, and imagine that they have become woodmen. By all means let us build a road to the Forbidden Plateau but let us all see it for ourselves first.

RECENT EVENTS, the manoeuvres of politicians in expectation of an early provincial election, tend to confirm what I have long secretly suspected, that the political organizations have failed to attract the best citizens of this or any other Canadian community. Or rather, the opposite is probably true—the best citizens have failed to take any part in these organizations. Anyway, the result is the same and it is the reason why government generally has sunk to its present place in public esteem. The best people stay out of the political organizations—these organizations almost invariably—and this applies to both parties—get into the hands of men who are looking for something for themselves, and then the public wonders why public life isn't on a higher plane. As a matter of fact, considering the organizations they usually spring from, the relatively high character of our public men is amazing, and their chief trouble is not the solving of the country's problems, but the keeping of their political organizations in line. An average politician, indeed, spends far more time trying to maintain his organization in reasonable shape, trying to pacify his friends, than in the actual business of the country. And if he doesn't, then his organization promptly gets someone else who will look after it and the boys.

BUT I DO not mind imparting this secret to the men who run party machines—the average decent politician, the real leaders of the country, secretly despise them. On the whole, the public has no right to complain, having made no effort to get anything better than government. It is getting much better government than it deserves. The people I feel sorry for are the few earnest, decent folk who go into political organizations without any selfish designs, then find on one hand a clique of scheming heeled men, and on the other, the inert mass of the public. On the whole, it looks to me as if justice would be done in this matter at the next provincial election, or perhaps not quite strict justice. That is to say, the public will not get quite as bad candidates as it deserves. But almost.

THE WISE MEN who manage our park and boulevard system are made of sterner stuff than most people had imagined. As I predicted, having a high respect for them, they are still determined to remove our boulevard trees, and say so quite frankly. I haven't the slightest doubt that they will accomplish their purpose because the public of Victoria is so apathetic about such things that it would make no complaint if someone were to remove the Parliament Buildings stone by stone; that is, not until the last stone had been removed, whereupon there would be an outburst all the more fierce because it was too late. I do not expect the boulevard trees will be saved from the axe. I do not expect they will even be saved from the starvation which is already afflicting them and which has almost killed the maples of Parliament Square. I do not expect that the boulevard authorities which haven't sense enough to feed the trees will have sense enough to leave them standing and perhaps it is better to kill them mercifully than to starve them by inches.

I CAN INSURE that, but I do resent the insult to our intelligence which these same wise men offer us when they say that trees cannot be allowed to grow indefinitely on our streets, that they must be removed sooner or later. Anyone who has been in an Ontario town knows how true that is. But in the unfortunate and forsaken towns of Ontario the poor benighted inhabitants haven't had the benefit of experts' advice. They haven't had a park superintendent to tell them to cut down their trees because they must be removed sooner or later. And, in this state of cheerful savagery and ignorance, they have allowed their trees to grow for a century or so until the streets have been covered with the most pleasant of all Canada and make some of our look like back alleys. But when you have experts you must follow their advice or, of course, you are just wasting your money. Let us cut down the boulevard trees at once and get it over with and then, when our streets are covered with bare earth, we shall have this consolation—we shall be scientific and modern. We shall have followed the experts' advice.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE 'VICTORIA DAILY TIMES' AUGUST 15, 1907

From The Times Files

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate or fresh southerly winds, partly cloudy and cool.

The grounds of the Empress Hotel have been completely cleared of trees not before shown. The filling in of the front is complete, except for the layer of loam which will cover it before the whole is seeded down to grass. There is a beautiful slope leading down to the Causeway, which when covered with green sward, will rival the gardens of the Parliament Buildings for beauty.

While on her recent trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Princess Patricia noticed the distinction of being the first vessel of any kind to enter Klumkoi Bay where two speculators from Seattle, R. Hill, and K. Knapp, were landed. The two represent syndicate which plan to purchase the mine owned by Swedish interests near the bay.

The North and South Spanish Agricultural Society, the oldest association of its kind in British Columbia, will hold its fortieth annual exhibition in the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, on Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20.

The first aquatic meet of the season will be held at the Gorge Park, Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2.30 under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. Most of the events are for members of the association only, but there are several open features.

After an absence of three weeks, spent in installing beacons at Fog Rocks, in Fitz Hugh Sound and at Zoro Rocks, Rivers Inlet, the D.G.S. Quadra returned to port last night.

A PLEA FOR THE FORESTS

To the Editor—Please help to save our trees. They are the greatest earthly blessing to man. They are our most vital, most valuable and most necessary natural resource. They protect and beautify our farms and gardens, protect our drinking water supplies, our water powers, fish, game and bird life; provide lumber and fuel, pulp and paper, labor and transportation, taxes and dividends; are our greatest promoter of health, beautify our city streets, protect our highways and check the ever growing menace of dust storms and hail, provide shade from the scorching days of sun in summer and the icy blasts of winter, prevent cyclones, damaging floods, erosion and loss of fertility of the soil; provide recreation and a tourist industry which, without cost to the country, ranks second in its importance, hence, including lumber and pulp, our four greatest industries are absolutely dependent upon our forests, and in fact "nothing that we use or eat or wear can be produced, manufactured or transported without the aid of wood."

No other element of the universe has so many uses (4,500 in number) or is of such vital importance as trees and still nothing that God provides for the benefit of mankind is being wasted and destroyed with such deliberate wantonness and complete abandon. Our governments are doing practically nothing to protect and perpetuate this life-blood of the nation except to fight forest fires that they are primarily responsible for kindling through lack of slash disposal. Fire prevention receives no consideration, though forest fires are increasing from year to year, while losses from wind, insects and disease are continually mounting as we keep on adding to the causes that produce these calamities.

The most serious aspect of this neglect is the effect that forest destruction has on our climate.

Excesses of weather are no longer a matter of weeks or even days, but now occur two and three times on the same day. We are already suffering severely from drought, crop failures, cyclones, dust storms, hail storms, forest fires, cloudbursts, floods, and low water conditions in our wells, springs and rivers. We have this very season experienced every one of these extremes all on a single day.

A member of the United States Timber Conservation Board, Mr. George D. Pratt, is calling upon his government for $100,000,000 for forest protection and reforestation. This is the first real evidence that I have seen of a realization of the gravity of the forest situation on this continent and in so far as the United States is concerned is most encouraging.

But what is Canada going to do about it?

FRANK J. D. BARNJUM,
 Toronto, August 6, 1932.

AN EXPLANATION

To the Editor—It has been brought to my attention that some people are maliciously spreading the rumor that I am in sympathy with the Communist movement or to use a modernism that I am a "Red." This may be unimportant from a personal point of view, and as a matter of fact I am not in the least concerned with any of these things, but because anything they don't know they will make up and give full play to their lurid imaginations.

But in common fairness to the political movement known as "Reds"—that I have the honor to represent—I should be grateful if you would give the courtesy of your valuable space to the following statement:

I am not, and never have been, a Communist as we understand the term to-day. As far as I know, I never shall be. I am a loyal subject of King George V and a firm believer in democratic government as constituted under the British Crown. I firmly believe also that if our system had not become demoralized and prostituted by avaricious financial interests, it would still be the most democratic system in existence. Although opposed to war with all my heart, and with—which is even more important—all my intellect, I am not a pacifist in the accepted sense of the word and in the event of my country being attacked my humble services will always be at her disposal, as heretofore.

Without any wish or ambition for my race to dominate the rest of the world, I believe in patriotism as I believe in life itself. But capitalism and patriotism are not synonymous, although, unfortunately, we are constantly being led to believe they are. The world to-day has two crying needs—truth and work—and true patriotism consists in working for both these desired objectives.

The overwhelming mass of common people are being crushed between the upper and the nether millstones. So far, with few exceptions, of which I am one, they have been inarticulate under the oppression and the penalty of protest is so great that fear has gained the victory over courage of conviction. Falsehood, scandal and ridicule constitute the armory of repression and provide a terrible test of faith. It is absolutely folly to contend that conditions are ideal or to say that it is beyond man's strength or intellect to alter them for the better. We, as Britisheers, are traitors to our cherished traditions if we rest content while increasing taxes and misery are driving hundreds and thousands to despair and Communism.

There is only one way to stop making heads and tails of it to stop making them. There is only one way to stop war and to disarmament and that is to disarm. I claim no credit for these two quotations they are from a greater man than mine, but they tell me what I claim the courage for telling that.

WOMEN SET FAST PACE

Mere Breaking of World Mark Not Good Enough to Win at Olympics

Canadian Athletes Just Not Good Enough; Six World Records Fell

By ELMER DULMAGE
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

Los Angeles, Aug. 15.—The pulse of women's sport is beating quicker than it ever has before, increasing its beat more rapidly, perhaps, than that of any other department of athletic endeavor. Mere breaking of a world record, for instance, wasn't enough at the Olympic Games to assure victory.

Six new world records were established by women in track and field at the games and altogether about a dozen girls bettered Olympic or world standards. That the trend is upward in Canada as in other lands was demonstrated when three members of the Dominion team bettered Olympic marks—yet did not win an event.

Every track record for women went by the boards during a week of such record-breaking as no previous Olympic had seen. The United States won five of the six events for women, Poland the other. With a team considerably stronger than that which won a sweeping victory in 1928 at Amsterdam, the Dominion had to be content with two second places, one third and one sixth.

Tet Eva Dawes, Toronto, jumped higher than the winning height of Ethel Catherwood, Amsterdam. Hilda Strick easily broke the record Betty Robinson, of the United States, established the same year, and the Canadian four-girl sprint relay team ran 40 metres more than a full second faster this year than they did to win in Europe. Miss Dawes took third, Miss Strick second and the relay team was second.

GREAT PERFORMANCES
 The answer is they are running faster and jumping higher in other countries, particularly in the United States. To take third place in the high jump Dawes cleared 5 feet 3 inches, one-half inch higher than Miss Catherwood's title-winning leap in the Amsterdam games. But when Jean Shibley and Babe Dickerson, America's stars, went over 5 feet 5½, just to establish that more than record-breaking ability is required to win Olympic championships these days.

Betty Robinson ran the 100 metres four years ago in 12.1-seconds, which hardly would have landed her in the finals in these games. Stella Walsh, Polish-American sprinter, won in 11.9-0, and Miss Strick trailed her about a foot. Other Canadian girls, capable of time only slightly over 12 seconds, went out in the semi-finals.

BAD JUDGMENT
 Poor judgment, more than any other factor, cost Canada the relay when Miss Strick got away slowly on the final leg. She should have started six feet ahead on the last American runner, but was two yards behind when she finally took the baton from Mary Friesell. The United States went on to triumph in 47 seconds, 11½ compared with the Olympic record of 49.2-5.

Observers near the track said Miss Strick waited until Miss Friesell came into the baton-passing area before getting up speed.

Falling to get away to a running start, the Canadian girl gained a yard on her rival. Had she started with the two-yard advance her teammates earned, Canada would have won by more than three yards, and set a record approximately 46.7-10.

Even this mark—better than 12 seconds a 100-metre leg—is almost certain to be bettered when the girls start after records four years from now at the Berlin Olympics.

Cliff Sutter Wins Grass Court Title

Rye, N.Y., Aug. 15.—Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, holder of the U.S. Intercollegiate championship, yesterday won the men's singles title of the east grass court tennis tournament, beat Gregory Mangin, Newark, in the final round, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Lester Stiefen, Los Angeles, and Eney Wood, New York, won the doubles title, beating Keith Gledhill, St. Barbara, and Henry Guiley, Los Angeles, 6-1, 11-0, 6-2.

NANAIMO DRAW WITH OKANAGA

Up-island and Interior Crick Elevens Engage in Spirited Match

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Aug. 15.—Okanagan touring cricketers and Nanaimo played an exciting game here yesterday, which resulted in a tie, each team scoring 163 runs. Batting first the visitors made a bad start, losing three wickets for ten runs. Curtis joined Poole, scoring 4. Curtis hit up 71 in innings of perfect cricket. Nanaimo lost three men very cheaply. Wyles and Daubeny made a fine fifth wicket stand, punishing Okanagan bowlers for several sixes.

Wyles was top scorer in the match with a 72, while Daubeny compounded 51. Nanaimo needed three runs to win with four wickets to fall. Wyles caught at square leg by Hopson, remaining batsmen failed to see necessary runs.

FINE CAST AT THE CAPITOL

Corinne Griffith and Michael Arlen Have Leading Roles in "Lily Christine"

When "Lily Christine," Corinne Griffith's latest starring picture, now at the Capitol Theatre, was shown for the first time in London recently, the Prince of Wales was one of the first to congratulate her—from the stage of the Plaza Theatre.

The showing of "Lily Christine" was a brilliant social function, attended by royalty in great numbers.

Arranged as a charity function, the seats were sold at high prices, and the streets were blocked off for squares.

around to permit those holding tickets to arrive without being mobbed by the great crowds which gathered to view the "premieres" celebrities.

Scenes which heretofore have been identified only with Hollywood openings occurred, as flashlights boomed and thousands sent up cheer after cheer.

When the picture was concluded, the prince appeared upon the stage and said:

"I am sure we all congratulate Miss Corinne Griffith and those who have helped to make the film the great picture that it is."

Those who share the glory of this high praise with Miss Griffith are Michael Arlen, author of the film; Paul Stein, the director; Margaret Bannerman and Colin Clive, her supporting leads—and others in the cast which includes Miles Mander, Jack Trevor and Anna Gray.

"Lily Christine" is the story of a lovely and lovable society woman who experiences a series of sensational, dramatic-romantic escapades in order to save herself from social disgrace.

Owing to the great success of "Reserved for Ladies," the British Paramount picture with Leslie Howard, George Grossmith, Benita Hume and Elizabeth Allen, will be retained for another few days at the Empire Theatre. No British picture that has ever been shown in Victoria recently has received such high praise from lovers of polished acting and perfect picture production.

This delicate story of London social system in a setting of wealth and luxury is delightfully parodied by the great artists of London's stage and screen.

Here is a picture comedy—touched by the glamour of European aristocratic life, with a king, a countess, a duchess—and a lot of wealthy commoners—in which the social amenities are humorously twisted. It will amuse any audience.

CONRAD NAGEL AT THE ROMANO

Twelve years ago Ruth Helms interviewed Conrad Nagel for Photoplay Magazine, and the actor promptly decided to marry her—which he did! Nagel's latest screen appearance is in the leading male role of "Bad Sister," Universal's sparkling comedy drama which opens an engagement at the Romano Theatre to-day.

KAY FRANCIS AT COLUMBIA

Lionel Barrymore is featured as the master-killer in "Guilty Hands," Bayard Veiller's new mystery drama which opened to-day at the Columbia Theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering.

In this startling murder thriller Barrymore contributes, in the opinion of this reviewer, the best performance he has ever given upon the screen. His characterization of the veteran prosecutor and attorney, facing the necessity of killing a man himself, rises far above the dramatic heights of all his earlier efforts, even including his personal triumph in "A Free Soul."

W. S. Van Dyke directed the mystery picture with splendid judgment and adroit use of unusual camera angle and sound effects to strengthen the bafflement and mystery of the original piece penned expertly by Veiller. This is the most striking story of its kind to come to the attention of the reviewer and certainly the most novel picture to reach the talking screen in many months.

Kay Francis and Madge Evans head the cast.

DOUBLE BILL AT PLAYHOUSE

"Rich Man's Folly," which is the feature at the Playhouse Theatre to-day, has a cast of great strength and popularity.

George Bancroft, the famous star of the picture, has one of the strongest character roles he has ever undertaken.

Bancroft acts the part of a big ship-builder, a man of large affairs in the business world, a dominating personality. Just to portray such a type is "easy stuff" for Bancroft, but the part calls for much more.

He is not only a type, but impersonate character—a domineering, hard-fisted, ambition-mad man who has stifled all love and friendly feeling. This calls for the highest dramatic technique and vigor.

Also on the same programme is "Girl Crazy," with Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler.

MARIAN NIXON AT DOMINION

The attributes that make Rebecca one of the best-loved characters of literature and the drama are said to have fitted Marlon Nixon for the role in the Fox version of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which is being shown at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

Like the Rebecca who sprang from the creative brain of Kate Douglas Wiggin, creator of the original story, Miss Nixon possesses all the qualities which make for an interesting and lovable personality. She takes intense pride in her work; is considerate of others, and has a genuine friendliness and interest in people that has won her countless friends both as an actress of ability and as a private individual.

Like Rebecca, too, Miss Nixon is keenly imaginative, naturally buoyant, and by training and inclination she is wholeheartedly optimistic. All of these qualities were stressed by Alfred Santell, who directed the picture, and are given able emphasis by the sympathetic support of Ralph Bellamy. He is seen opposite Miss Nixon as the romantic Dr. Adam Ladd whose love for Rebecca dominates the plot.

GREAT CLIMAX IN RIFLE MEET

Cpl. D. O. White, New Brunswick, Wins Governor-General's Match at Ottawa

Forced to Defeat Two Others to Capture Feature Prize at D.C.R.A. Meet

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—A story-book finish and a smashing climax to a week's fine shooting ended the Dominion Rifle Association annual shooting matches here Saturday.

There have been many strange situations on these ranges; many amazing endings; but none perhaps quite so amazing as the one Saturday.

Corporal D. O. White, twenty-four-year-old school-teacher from Grand Falls, N.B., Saturday won the Governor-General's medal, with Sgt. W. J. Woods, Hamilton, second, and Sgt. E. G. Stock, Toronto, third.

Actually the situation was entirely reversed, with Stock, Woods and White finishing in the order.

This may seem somewhat paradoxical, but here's the explanation.

Rifle matches, when tied, are decided by "best score at longest range."

But when there are medals or trophies to be awarded, there must be a tie-breaker. Hence, when Stock scored 145 points in the second stage of the Governor-General's match, he won most of the money. Woods had a total of 143 in the second stage, and took second money, while White's 139 in the second half of the match left him in third position.

Although technically Stock won the match, White won the shoot-off, receiving the Governor-General's gold medal.

The three men had all scored totals of 243 in the match proper, and fired five rounds apiece to break the tie.

Stock was eliminated early, scoring 20 out of a possible 25. Woods let one shot slip into the "magpie" ring, and was out of the competition after that.

The New Brunswick school-teacher had placed his last three shots in the bullseye to finish with a total of 243 out of 250.

British Columbia scores were: Capt. D. R. Blair 238, Sgt. B. Drysdale 238, Sgt. T. W. Hall 236, Major F. Richardson 236, Master Gunner H. Richards 234, Sgt. Major W. H. Ruffell 233, T. R. Davies 230, Pte. I. M. Grant 242.

In the Bisley Aggregate, Capt. D. Fyvie with a total of 558 is on the team, and Pte. I. M. Grant, Victoria, with 654, is on the waiting list.

The Tuberculous Veterans' branch will hold their usual monthly meeting in the clubroom on Bligh Street to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting of the executive will take place at 7.15 o'clock.

RELIEF COST WAS $12,200,000

Much Highway Mileage Constructed By Province to Assist Workless

Unemployment relief expenditures in British Columbia in two years aggregated $12,200,000, the unemployment relief committee of the Provincial Cabinet has announced. Under Federal relief legislation passed in 1930 the cost of assisting workless amounted to $3,900,000. The aggregate investment under the Federal Relief Act of 1931 was $8,300,000, of which total the provincial treasury provided more than $5,000,000 up to May 31 last, as compared with only $1,300,000 in the preceding year.

For its 1931 expenditure the province obtained construction of more than 100 miles of standard highways and 1,400 miles of other roadwork and improvements. The tangible result in municipalities was provision of extensive betterments in sewers, water-works and similar permanent improvements.

Major road projects carried out by the province last year included work on the Transcanada Highway at Big Bend and Sicamous-Cameo; on the Northern and Southern Transprovinc Highway; the Island Highway, and on many main and trunk roads of the province. This work provided employment for 32,721 men, besides direct relief in 75,366 cases.

The policy adopted by the federal government for this year, it is announced, will be continuation of the direct relief plan followed at the close of agreements under the 1931 act. Relief will be given only to the most necessitous cases.

Lord Beaverbrook's references to the Imperial Conference at Ottawa were confined to declaring that Premier Bennett's offer would have cost $45,000,000 worth of trade here. Mr. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, as leader of the British delegation, should have accepted the offer, said Lord Beaverbrook, leaving Mr. Bennett to see it implemented in full.

The Army and Navy Veterans' Association held an enjoyable smoker in their clubroom on Saturday evening. Percy Fletcher, T. Wilson, B. Hunt, E. Hendow, W. Brown, R. Casser, T. Wilson, J. Rivers, G. Gardner, A. Jackson and J. Bell contributed to the successful programme.

Beaverbrook Told To End Dithyrambs

London, Aug. 15.—Commenting on a speech made by Lord Beaverbrook at a meeting of farmers in Lincolnshire, The London Morning Post this morning exhorted the newspaper baron to discontinue the practice of having his utterances written by dithyrambic members of his entourage.

This evidently referred to a report in Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express, which opened with these words: "We heard a voice in the fenland yesterday, the stern, strong voice of that man who is determined the empire shall prosper. Of that the voice could have been heard all over Britain! I could have wished that voice were a thousand times as strong and virile."

Mineral Exploration Machines and Bank Accounts Tied Up By Court Order

Mr. Justice Gregory, at his summer home at Shawanigan Lake during the week-end, issued an injunction order to C. K. Courtney, counsel for the Mitchell Exploration Company Limited of Windsor, Ont., and Thomas M. Mitchell, against West H. Gallogly to prevent the removal from Atlin of the five airplanes that went north early in the summer as part of the Eastman Sea Rovers' air squadron to conduct mineral explorations.

Besides restraining Gallogly from removing the airplanes, gasoline, oils or other equipment from their station at Atlin, it also precludes him from touching the $15,000 on deposit in the B. M. Behrendson Bank at Juneau, Alaska, and $25,000 on deposit in the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Windsor. Damages are also being sought by the company for the wrongful taking of the planes.

HARVEST BRINGS BETTER OUTLOOK

H. Frank Bird, advertising director of The Regian Daily Star, who has been holidaying here with his wife, left to-day for Vancouver en route to the Saskatchewan city.

Saskatchewan will have the best crop of the last five years, Mr. Bird said. In northern Saskatchewan there will be a 100 per cent yield, and the crops in the southern part of the province, although burned in spots, are good.

The people are more optimistic and are buying more with the result that business is opening up in good shape. Alberta's crop, said Mr. Bird, is even better than that of the neighboring province.

Many unemployed drifters are getting jobs in the grain fields.

Mr. Bird is a former resident of Victoria, being for many years in the advertising field.

Average Consumer's Needs Worked Out

That the average consumer uses up fifty-one square yards of cotton cloth per year and eats over 150 pounds of meat are among the surprising facts discovered in a recent survey of the consumer market by Investors' Syndicate of Minneapolis.

While the average man is a difficult person to find, his habits as revealed statistically are such as to make or break great industries. In this year of stringency, for example, he has for some inexplicable reason chosen to burn more gasoline than he did during the boom. His savings account, apparently little affected by the change in conditions, totals $134. His innate habit of thrift, Investors' Syndicate finds, has been stubbornly maintained in the face of some of the greatest bargains in history on one hand; and a frequent need for extra cash on the other.

In addition to his large consumption of meat, the typical consumer drinks 849 pounds of milk a year, eats 249 pounds of potatoes, twelve pounds of candy and eleven pounds of coffee.

One gallon of gasoline, when properly mixed with air is equivalent to eighty-three pounds of dynamite.

Sylvester Block Is Remodeled To Meet Demands of Trade

Entire Front of Building at 709-711 Yates Street Is Transformed With Travatine; Modern Stores Replace Building Erected Many Years Ago; Contractors Are Congratulated

With the completion of the remodeling contract on the Sylvester Block on Yates Street the general appearance of this business section has been greatly improved.

The entire front has been finished in artificial stone, and extensive alterations have been carried out to make a modern building in every respect. The block is really two distinct buildings of three floors and full cement basements. The westerly building was built in 1907 by the Sylvester Brothers, and was occupied by this firm, who were in business as grain and feed merchants. Two years later, they built the easterly building which has been occupied continuously as stores on the ground floor and an apartment hotel on the two upper floors. The Sylvester Brothers retired from business about six months ago, and after the fire which occurred in their former premises, it was decided to remodel and thoroughly renovate the entire block. The result is seen to-day. From a weathered building it has been transformed into a modern business block. The entire front of the block was formerly brick. This brick was chipped to form a secure bedding for the Portland cement, after which a final coat of travatine was floated on.

INTERIOR ALTERATIONS

In the westerly building, extensive alterations were made. The elevator was moved to the rear and practically rebuilt. This elevator serves all floors. A partition was built at the rear stairways or elevator. Borrowed light is used extensively. A solid partition divides the ground floor into two well-lighted modern stores.

A special feature is the use of the new Gyproc on walls and ceilings under the plaster, which, apart from its fire resisting qualities, has been found economical to use and will not readily produce hair lines and cracks in the plaster. The store fronts are modern and attractive, indirect lighting being used as much as possible.

The reconstruction contract was handled by Luney Bros. Limited, the work being completed under the direction of James A. Bennell, superintendent of buildings for the Royal Trust Company, agents for the Sylvester Block.

Victoria craftsmen were employed in all branches of the contract and a first class job is the result.

CONTRACTORS PRAISED

The satisfaction of the agents is expressed in the following letter which has been addressed to the general contractors:

Messrs Luney Bros. Limited,
1712 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sirs:—We wish to express to you and your co-contractors our appreciation for the excellent workmanship and material in the alterations to the Sylvester Buildings.

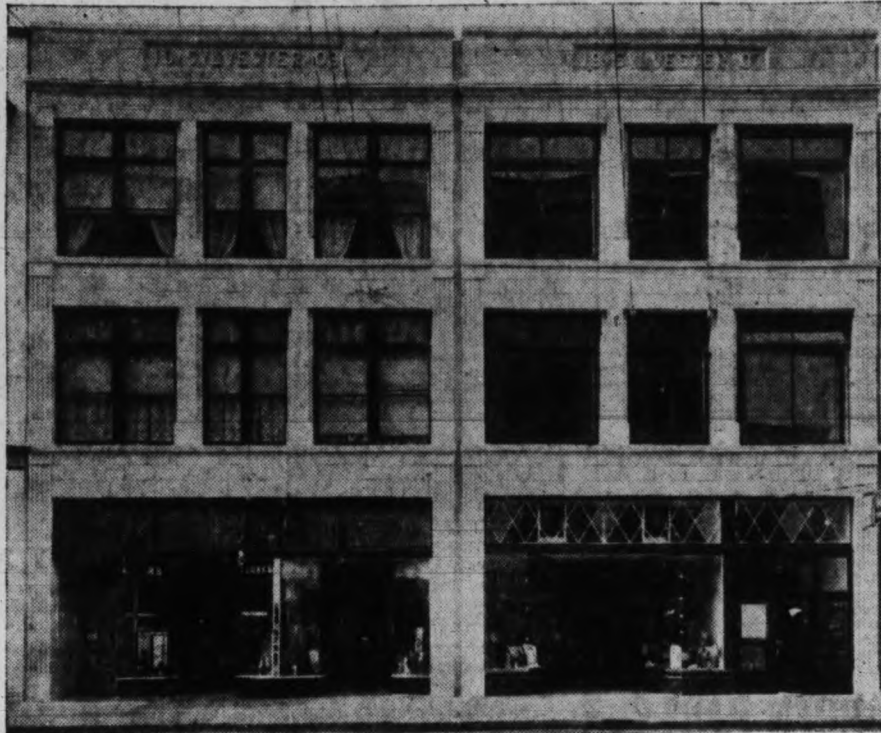

The work of all trades concerned regards to the credit of Victoria craftsmanship.

Yours faithfully,
JAMES A. BENNELL,
Superintendent of Buildings.

The remodeling of the premises was designed to suit the particular requirements of the tenants now occupying the stores.

Forest Fires Less Than Last Year

With the number of forest fires for the season less than half the total for the same period last year, conditions at the end of last week were reported safe, with cool and showery weather prevailing generally in the province. The Forest Protection Branch recorded 113 outbreaks during the week but none were of serious nature. This brought the year's total to 845, as compared with 1,845 at this time last year and 1,445 in 1930.

Here is seen the Sylvester Block as it appears to-day. Within a few weeks a remarkable transformation has taken place. The entire front of the building has been stuccoed, giving it a substantial appearance in artificial stone. Extensive interior alterations have also taken place and modern store fronts fitted.

Before reconstruction work was commenced, the old face of the Sylvester Block looked like this. It was one of the original brick buildings erected on Yates Street, north of Douglas, being built and owned by the Sylvester brothers and used for many years in their feed business.

ECONOMY HARD IN FAR EAST

Englishwoman Tells of Difficulties Caused By Depression in India

Native Servants and Storekeepers Think All White People Rich

The difficulties of effecting economies in living as experienced by Britishers living among the native peoples of the Far East is graphically described by an English woman, Dorothy Black, writing from India in a recent article in The London Mail.

"The slump has arrived in the east, and nowhere is the word economy less welcome than in those communities at the other side of the world, where people have fallen into the bad habit of doing themselves a great deal too well, where young men keep horses and motorcars as a matter of course, and the clubs vie with one another in the length of their bars, the potency of their drinks, where in good days ordinary men erected palaces for themselves to live in.

"Now, with depleted coffers, they have got to try to go on living in the same way, but they are not doing so. They are being forced to keep up the extravagant standards they themselves unthinkingly set, for there is nothing more difficult in the east than ceasing to do that which you did yesterday.

"The plaster is falling sadly off government departments. In the big offices, burra sahibs sit, busy cutting down. It is a heartbreaking business. Six out of twelve young assistants go, all of them nice young men who in ordinary times could have looked forward to a prosperous future.

"The women's battle. "Small wonder that the pencils of the burra sahibs move slowly and reluctantly, postponing wherever possible the unpleasant task, unwilling to ring the knell on so many hopes. "But the slump has arrived, and there is nothing else for it. In the bungalows outside the city, the white women are at their fighting their battle, and their difficulties are legion. In the west you fix your budget and abide by it. You cut your coat according to your cloth. In the east your coat is cut for you.

"Prices are ruled entirely by what the seller considers the consumer is in a position to pay. Let no man pin his faith to the official bazaar list, that voice of one crying in a wilderness. There is one price for the poor man and one for the rich, and in the eyes of those who sell, in the bazaars all white people are rich. If they pretend not to be it is their cunning.

"The memsahib paid this and that yesterday, therefore she can pay it today. With pained hand the cook waves aside the suggestion of a pay cut. The butler makes it clear such a thing cannot be expected of him, or his name will become debased, the importance of his master and mistress much diminished in the last importance, out east, matters more than anything, and we have only ourselves to blame.

"Were the cuts universal, matters would be easier. Wages would come down if there were no higher rates to be had. But here, as everywhere, there are two or three who hold out, and so increase the difficulties of their neighbors. The companies who pay the same salaries, the government department who still see reductions only as a distant cloud upon the horizon, no bigger than a man's hand, keep up the old standards and live at the lavish rate of extravagant day, and for them the rest have to suffer.

"Oh, that position! What a deal it has to answer for in the East, and more than half of it is the fault of the women. People who must shortly retire on inconspicuous pensions live in houses quite out of proportion to their needs or means, belong to clubs they never use, take part in a whirl of synthetic gaiety they do not enjoy, to no other end.

"They do not really like it. It is all rather cowardly and pitiful and out of date, but no one has the courage to take a stand, and those who might give a lead are often the worst offenders in the other direction. It is a moot point whether the accumulating of debts can ever hope to pay debts really enhance the prestige of anybody. "This is the 'White Man's burden' to-day. It is a shodder one than of old, this playing a game the more intelligent have long ago ceased to believe in or care about."

MAY PUT LADS IN FARM HOMES

Women's Institutes Asked By Government For Opinions of Farmers

Placement of unemployed youths on farms is being considered by the employment relief committee of the provincial government. Hon. R. W. Bruhn has announced that the women's institutes have been selected to ascertain the attitude of farmers towards the proposal, which is regarded as offering a practical method of training young men prepared to make farming their occupation.

If the result of the questionnaire is favorable it is proposed to withdraw youths from relief camps for placement with farmers. If necessary allowing the young men a small cash allowance for pocket money. The farmers would be expected to provide board and quarters in return for the work done by the men. The government would make substantial savings compared to the cost of maintaining the young men in relief camps.

The district agriculturalists of the Department of Agriculture will be asked to visit farms employing men under the scheme, to see that men are not exploited.

GOV.-GENERAL'S SON YEAR OLD

Hon. George St. Lawrence Ponsonby Had First Birthday Yesterday

Dominion Cabinet Presents Christening Gift of Silver Salver

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Hon. George St. Lawrence Neufville Ponsonby yesterday observed his first birthday. Baby Ponsonby is the youngest son of the Governor-General and the Countess of Beasborough and is particularly interesting to Canada as he was born in Montreal one year ago.

The celebration was of a very quiet nature, but a cake had been baked and was iced with his name on it and decorated with one candle.

An inscribed silver salver, a christening gift to Baby Beasborough from the Canadian Cabinet, which had not been presented previously, was given to the baby yesterday afternoon by Premier Bennett and Sir George Perley. They called at Government House to offer congratulations to the child and to present him with this gift.

The Countess of Beasborough gave her son one or two simple toys to mark the occasion.

GARDEN PARTY HELD AT RANGE

Over 2,000 Guests, Including Their Excellencies, at Ottawa Function

Ottawa, Aug. 15. (By Jean Logan, Canadian Press Writer).—Attended by the Governor-General and the Countess of Beasborough, the garden party at the Connaught in Ottawa yesterday was a gay event. Some 2,000 people were in attendance, and the administration building with the enclosure in front sheltering the trophies and prizes and bordered with brightly colored summer blooms, proved a popular place.

Excellency was wearing a summer dress of heavy white silk delicately flowered in rose and black. With it she wore a wide brimmed white straw hat with a band of white and corded silk and black and white kid shoes.

A marquee was erected on the lawn where tea was served. It all added to the bright bits of color added by the uniforms of the Governor-General's foot guards, the kilts of the Ottawa Highlanders, and the gay summer frocks worn by the women.

Wanted—a kind home for a baby. The Children's Aid Home has recently had to take over the care of a lovely blue-eyed baby boy of a month old, and as it already has five little wards under two years of age to keep in these days of depleted funds and someone willing to assume the role of loving parent to this little scrap of humanity. Anyone wishing to adopt a baby is requested to communicate with Mrs. Radbourne, a member of the home committee, E. 3929.

The home is also greatly in need of donations of fresh fruit and vegetables for its little wards. The children's aid home established in the summer camp at Cadboro Bay, and the benefits they are deriving from their holiday by the beach would be greatly enhanced by extra fruit and vegetable donations. Fruit is also needed for preserving so that the youngsters can be given this very necessary element in their diet during the winter months. Donations will gladly be called for an application by telephone to E. 3929.

Feather Boa Is Worn By Duchess; Latest Fashion

London, Aug. 15.—The feather boa, much beloved by our grandmothers, has taken London by storm. Delicate, light and fluttering, made of uncurled ostrich feathers, it provides all the colors of the rainbow, it provides an attractive finishing touch to both day and evening dresses.

The Duchess of York, at the royal garden party were a bright blue one which matched her dress; many of the guests wore boas, too.

"Since the fashion, which was launched earlier in the season, suddenly caught on a few weeks ago, there has been a ceaseless demand for these boas; we sell hundreds every day, and the manufacturers have as many orders as they can cope with," a buyer told a fashion reporter.

Food Bill For Family of Five Cut to $8.88 a Week, Says C. V. Vickrey

A menu entailing a food expenditure per week for a family of five of $8.88 has been scientifically prepared for the Golden Rule Foundation, according to Claude V. Vickrey, the executive president, who is a visitor in Victoria with his wife and two sons. Mrs. Vickrey is a daughter of Mrs. David Spencer, Moss Street.

The menu is used by many unemployed all over the continent and the Golden Rule Foundation is making an appeal to those with jobs to use it during the week of December 11 to 18 and to give the amount saved over the ordinary weekly food expenditure toward the relief of those less fortunate situated. These menus will appear in family magazines and will be broadcast; they can also be obtained from the New York headquarters of the Foundation.

The Golden Rule Foundation, which had its origin in relief work among Near East destitute children, has for its object now the rendering of assistance to all needy children. Attention will be given the work in Victoria this week.

The Foundation seeks to arouse an interest in the needs of the hour and then to leave the matter of how the relief can best be carried out to the various cities, local organizations and individuals.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

LIGHTENING THE "LEFT-OVER" PROBLEM

By SISTER MARY

Sweet peppers give an excellent opportunity for the cook to use vegetables and left-overs attractively and quickly. It is remembered that heat reduces heat and any substitute in the way of vegetables, milk and eggs is desirable.

Although peppers have comparatively little value in the way of calories, they are a good source of vitamins and are not difficult to digest properly used. They are a stimulant to the appetite, and if used raw are acceptable in a salad as a garnish and give a piquant touch to the taste.

There is a thin film over the outside flesh of a pepper that is indigestible. This should be removed by scalding water and let stand two minutes. Dip into cold water and rub off the thin coating.

Remember, too, that even in sweet peppers the seeds are bitter and that all the seeds and white fiber are removed before serving in any fashion.

Peppers are delicious stuffed with a combination of vegetables or a rice combination. Corn and green beans or lima beans, corn and tomatoes, carrots and peas, carrots and cabbage—the combinations are innumerable. Left-over cooked vegetables can be used or fresh ones specially prepared and used alone or in combinations.

Planked dishes and vegetable "plates" gain much by the addition of peppers stuffed with some appetizing combinations. A combination of rice and cheese moistened with tomato juice is an appetizing stuffing for the vegetable plate meal.

Raw sweet peppers can be filled with almost any salad combination. From fruit to fish, the delicate spiciness of sweet peppers blends appetizingly. A fruit salad garnished with finely chopped rings gains nourishment as well as interest. Blend cheese and finely chopped rings which have been blanched and freed from pith and seeds. Let stand on ice for several hours to chill and become firm. Cut in slices about one-half inch thick and serve one or two slices on each salad.

Use peppers to add variety to your August menu. Succotash served in a pepper shell is not the same thing as plain succotash. You will find many economical meals can be made more inviting by the use of this inexpensive vegetable.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Orange juice, cereal, cream, soft cooked eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Succotash in green pepper cups, salad of chard and cream cheese, greenage pudding, iced, chocolate.

Dinner: Hors d'oeuvre of eggs and beefs, broiled veal sweetbreads, creamed peas, friend summer squash, peaches in ambush, milk, coffee.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

The light that lies in your eyes will get more than a second glance if you veil it in a little mystery. If you know the eye language you need not be so active vocally.

If your lashes are not as long or as luxuriant as you wish they were, do not worry about it. If it is taking too long for them to grow by the conscientious application of vaseline or some product supposed to make them grow, cheer up. There's another way of getting what you want.

Beauty parlors have learned the secret of fastening artificial eyelashes on to real ones in such a way that everyone will think they grew there. It is all very simple and the lashes are immune from tears or water.

HOW THEY ARE APPLIED

They hairs do the trick. Each one is applied individually. It is glued on the tip of a natural eyelash. Of course it takes an hour, or maybe two of them, to have all the hairs applied. But when they are on, they are there to stay for several weeks. Your eyes will look at life in an entirely different way, and they will have a much more dazzling effect on the general public, or any particular person whom you would like to affect in a romantic manner.

The lashes may be as long as you want them. A "natural" length is most popular, as it has no hint of artificiality about it. However, you can have the lashes long enough to sweep across your cheek if you want them to curl up provocatively.

All lashes are black or dark brown. Light eyes grow darker when their shadows are increased through the darker shades and dark eyes demand an equally dusky setting.

The Victoria delegates to the Canadian Legion convention in Revelstoke will strongly condemn the action of the pension commissioners in cutting a man's pension pending investigation. They are of the opinion that it is unjust that a man should be deprived of his income during the period investigators are delving into his case for readjustment purposes.

Frank Clark, Grand master of the I.O.O.F. for British Columbia, is a visitor in the city from Prince George. Three lodges will be visited by him this evening and an address of importance to local Odd Fellows will be delivered. Following his speech Mr. Clark will be entertained at a banquet.

MARY CAMPBELL TENNIS CHAMP

Defeats Sister Helen 6-1, 6-2 in Final of Duncan Tournament

Duncan, Aug. 15.—The finals of the Duncan tennis tournament were concluded before a large crowd of interested spectators here Saturday. Henry Prusoff, Seattle, defeated Mel Dranga, also of Seattle, in three straight sets. Mary Campbell, Victoria, disposed of her sister, Helen, rather easily, 6-1, 6-2 in the women's singles final.

Then men's doubles was the closest match of the day, going to four sets before Dranga and Langlie, Seattle, disposed of Hocking, Victoria, and Brawn, Vancouver.

Final results follow:
Men's singles—Prusoff beat Dranga, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.
Women's singles—Mary Campbell beat Helen Campbell, 6-1, 6-2.

Men's Doubles—Dranga and Langlie beat Hocking and Brawn, 6-1, 6-4, 7-9, 8-6.

Women's doubles—Mrs. Ross and Muriel Munroe beat Mrs. Fleming and Veen O'Shea, 6-0, 6-3.

Mixed doubles—Williams and Muriel Munroe beat Langlie and Mrs. Ross, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Men's consolation—Armstrong beat Draper, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Women's consolation—Mrs. Bayley beat Christine Clokke, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

Mixed doubles (handicap)—N. T. Corfield and Christine Clokke (minus 40) beat Williams and Dodo Price (minus 40), 6-2, 6-3.

FIREBUG'S ATTEMPT FOILED BY POLICE

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—A "firebug" made a determined effort to destroy the plant of the Nippon Box Co. at 921 East Hastings Street here at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

Constable D. Richardson and W. Napier, patrolling in a police car, noticed a fire at the rear of the plant and turned in an alarm, then fought the blaze, which they extinguished before the arrival of firemen.

It was discovered, police say, that rags soaked in gasoline had been pushed under the door and beside it, then ignited. A bottle, partly filled with gasoline and another which had contained the same fluid were also discovered near the door.

City fire wardens are co-operating with the police in attempting to apprehend the criminal.

BANDIT ROBBS AGED WOMAN

Cowardly Criminal Takes $2 From 77-Year-Old Citizen of Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—Police here today were hunting for a cowardly street thug who attacked Mrs. M. C. The-Lamont, seventy-seven, of 1320 Beach Avenue, at Jervis and Davie Streets shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday evening and robbed her of a purse containing $2 and trinkets and a box of candy.

A plucky attempt to capture the thug was made by B. Bigelow, messenger boy, of 1009 Burnaby Street, who witnessed the attack and chased the man until he lost him in the darkness of an alley.

ROBBED OF $11

Earl D. Backie, 367 Kearney Street, New Westminster, was held up at 11 Saturday evening by a lone bandit in the 1100 block of West Pender Street and robbed of $11.

Mr. Backie met the man in a Fender Street beer parlor and was met by the man later.

"Where are you going?" asked the stranger as he whipped out a revolver and thrust its muzzle against Backie's side. Ordering his victim to stand quietly and offer no resistance, the bandit searched Backie's pockets and took his money, then fled in the darkness.

Breaking in the front door, thieves looted premises of Mrs. Lady's Apparel Limited, 330 Richards Street, of five fur coats and a number of suits and dresses Saturday evening.

On August 7 the rear door of the same premises was forced and goods valued at several hundred dollars were taken.

Placing a ladder so he could reach through an open window, a prowler stole a purse, containing $32, from the suite of Miss M. Scott, 1056 West Twelfth Avenue.

Perpetual Shopper Without "Glad Rag"

By ROBERT GRANDON

Hollywood, Aug. 15.—Down in one of Hollywood's amaret shops to-day I ran across Irene Tranger. Few people outside the select circle really know Irene and yet she has one of the choicest jobs in all Hollywood. I mean, that any woman should envy.

For Irene has carte blanche to purchase when and where she will, without regard to the amount spent. If the product justifies it. But the irony of it all is that of the purchases she makes, not one is for herself. For she is the wardrobe buyer for Paramount.

Not so long ago, Irene was a salesgirl in a downtown department store. Her intelligence and knowledge of buying attracted the attention of a studio executive, and now she's on the payroll.

Tall, slender, dark, in her early twenties, she comes down each morning to find a car and chauffeur waiting here and more often than not, some star who must be outfitted, and away they go. Four trips a day is her average, with six to eight stores as the total and, of course, there are emergency rushes as well, when something is missing at the last moment.

Irene's shopping list is inclusive and wholly feminine. Hats, bags, gloves, dress material, ready-made dresses, buttons, costume jewelry, toilet accessories, small knickknacks, and the like all come in her list. And with unerring taste she picks just the right thing at the right time.

Which is why she holds the position she does.

FIGURES SHOW TRADE DECREASE

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Canada's exports and imports practically balanced each other in the first four months of this fiscal year, the favorable trade balance being $370. Exports totaled $150,836,934 and imports $150,836,554.

Both trade classifications were considerably below the 1931 figures. In the first four months of the 1931 fiscal year, exports of Canadian products totaled $107,761,861 and imports $225,534,549.

In the month of July, exports fell to $12,321,284, a decrease of $8,423,836 from July, 1931. Imports dropped from $46,379,295 a year ago to $35,997,851.

Horoscope

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1932

Mingled good and evil planetary influences are seen to-day by astrologers, who read in the stars new warnings to beware of reckless expenditures.

In the early morning hours there may be a sense of the futility of effort and a tendency to discount the value of work.

Lausanne and business may strongly govern the energies of many persons while this configuration prevails. It is well to exercise will power to overcome adverse aspects.

While this configuration prevails the men who wield financial or political power may be exceedingly difficult to approach. It is not an auspicious day for interviews or conferences.

At the hours advance benefic influences will be perceptible, astrologers foretell, and the mind will focus more efficiently on important matters.

Changes in public opinion may be sudden and broad in their reach. It is forecast. The wise will reach conclusions slowly and carefully.

Although the newspapers may carry alarming rumors of far distant political upheavals, this should be a day of encouraging outlook for the United States.

Women to-day probably will occupy the background in public service, but they will achieve much by indirect influence, it is foretold.

In the evening of this day there is a fortunate sign for men who lead their fellow men. Political candidates should benefit.

Again there is a prophecy of trade agreements among foreign nations in which this country is not directly concerned.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of unusual and stimulating activities. Journeys may break routine work.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly ambitious and able to reach any goal that seems worth while.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WHY BLAME BABY FOR CHOOSING EASIER ROAD?

There are minor disadvantages which often show up when a mother is using both breast and bottle feedings for her infant. If compelled to nurse from a waning breast supply, the baby grows more and more disgusted and wriggles and fights to get away from it. Bottle feeding is much easier for the baby. Because the milk flows easily from the bottle, babies refuse to make any wearisome exertion to get food.

SMALL MATTERS

These small matters should not deter a mother from making use of complementary feedings, but they should apprise her of what may be happening when baby begins to fight the breast. Mrs. C. S. is facing that situation. She writes, "My baby girl is four months old and weighs thirteen pounds, having weighed seven at birth. I have been nursing her every three hours for the last three months, but now she is fighting the breast."

"I have also been giving her a complementary feeding as I did not have much milk. Shall I continue nursing her when I have so little? I nurse her for ten minutes and then give her six ounces of milk. I now use the four-hour schedule. She also gets an ounce of orange juice daily and I am starting cereals. She seems quite happy and seldom cries. Will you please send me a feeding schedule for a four-month-old baby? Shall I make her take all of her bottle, or can I offer it again in an hour?"

A four-month-old baby usually takes six ounces of formula every four hours. In addition, your baby gets a ten-minute nursing; so it is rather plain why she refuses all of her milk. By no means offer the bottle after the baby has finished eating. If there is any milk left over, it should be thrown away. You wouldn't be spacing your meals every four hours if you did otherwise. The baby has gained well and does not need cereal. Don't hurry things. Milk and orange juice are enough until baby is five months old. In September start cod liver oil. If the complementary feeding were not such a large one baby would probably be satisfied to take what there is in the breast and then accept a bottle of milk to finish up on. You are offering a full feeding by bottle so baby isn't going to be bothered by the breast feeding.

LEAFLETS

I shall be more than happy to send you leaflets. But our rule for getting leaflets is for you to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope in which I may return them to you. You forgot to include an address, so sending you a leaflet, even if I furnished the

I think you would enjoy having my leaflets, "Feeding From Two to Twelve Months," and "Sweet Milk Formulas." One half of a formula designed for a baby the age and weight of yours would suffice for a complementary feeding.

What's-what's this all about? The woman asked helplessly. "You like to know the joke, too?" She looked at Harris. "You—you are Mr. Harris, aren't you? That's your name, isn't it? Do you know Mr. Phillips?"

The stranger's face sobered. "Yes, I know him," he answered. "I didn't expect to see him here, though. It's—rather a surprise. Changes things somewhat. I—well, with Dan here I suppose I may as well be frank. I'm the Mr. Harris you were expecting, Miss Vail, and then again, I'm not. My name is Harris—that is, it's my middle name. You had a note from me saying I'd call this afternoon to talk to you about picture rights on your stories. The fact is, well, I'm not a representative of United Actors as I told you—"

"You're not with United Actors? Then you're not the man who wrote me?"

"Oh, yes I am. I wrote the letters and sent them to a friend of mine to deliver to you."

"But, Mr. Harris—" Brenda Vail's face had lost its animation. She was staring at the man uncomprehendingly, almost stupidly. "If you're not the Mr. Harris, who are you?" she demanded.

"My name is Pearson, Miss Vail. Max Harris Pearson. I'm on The News."

"You—on The News? You mean here in Wellington? You mean you haven't anything to do with motion pictures? Then United Actors—they don't want your stories?"

"Pearson with blushing anger. 'What did you do to it?' she cried. 'How dare you? Oh, but there must be a law against this sort of thing. I'll see that you pay for it. I tried to trap me, didn't you? Thought you'd get money—'

Brenda's afternoon had been too much for her. She snatched up her nearest thing at hand, a pottery vase, and hurled it across the room. Brenda's anger was not appeased. She caught up a cushion from the sofa, port, ripping the silk so that the cotton lining fell to the floor.

"What did you do to it?" she screamed.

The two men exchanged glances. A hysterical woman is not a pleasant sight. Phillips said, "There's no use losing control of yourself, Brenda. People will hear you—"

"What if they do? Do you understand what he's telling me? It means I can't go to Hollywood! The money—I'd counted on $10,000 at least—it means there's no money."

"What am I to do now? I've never been so humiliated. So—so mistreated! I'll see that you suffer—"

Pearson was actually sorry for her. Rage had made Brenda Vail into a bagged, shrew-like old woman. She looked years beyond her age. Her lined, twisted face was pathetic.

"I'm sorry," he said sincerely. "I shouldn't have done that. There were reasons but—well, there's no use going into that. Miss Vail, I deliberately deceived you and I deserve whatever you think of me. But after I've said that, I'm sorry I'm afraid there's nothing more to be—"

"Oh, you think that, do you?" Brenda snapped. "Well, you'll find there's plenty I can do about it. I'll have you arrested. I'm going to make you pay—"

"I'm afraid you won't be able to do that," the young man said quietly. "You see, Miss Vail, I've been a newspaperman too long to take chances where law is concerned. There was no mention of money in my letters. You didn't sign anything. You only examined those letters closely you'll find there's nothing whatever in them on which you can base charges."

"You think I'd believe that? You think I'd even listen to you? Well, I'm going to see my lawyer!"

"Then you'll only be obliged to pay fees for nothing. It will be rather foolish."

Perhaps Brenda believed him. Perhaps she saw that suddenly every one of her glamorous dreams had faded. The vision of Brenda Vail, the great scenario writer—her name flashing on the silver screen—her photograph in newspapers—wealth, fame, influential acquaintances—all that had vanished. The woman turned away, covering her face with her hands.

"We'd better go," Phillips said. "Brenda doesn't want us here, Max."

"Yes, go! I never want to see either of you again! Get out of my sight, I tell you—"

Her angry, high-pitched voice followed them out into the hall. Silently the two men entered the elevator and rode to the ground floor. They stepped out on the street and Phillips was surprised to see how light it was. A little after five o'clock, it seemed hours since he had entered store. It was several minutes before he emerged and when he did one look at his face was enough to tell that the mission had failed.

Pearson eyed him expectantly. "Well?" he asked.

CHAPTER XXVII
Pearson requested Dan's words. "You've got to find her. Why—let's Cherry at home."

"I haven't seen her for a week," Phillips admitted. "Cherry and I had a row. Oh, it was my fault! My fault altogether! I've got to find her and tell her I know that now—"

Dan did not answer. They had reached the intersection of two important thoroughfares just as the traffic lights flashed red. There was a drug store on the opposite corner. Dan touched Pearson's arm.

"Let me out here," he said. "I've got to telephone to Cherry."

"But if you don't know where she is how can you do that?"

"I'm going to call her home—I mean her parents' home. That's where she must be. Want to ask her if I can come out and talk to her. Don't you understand, Max? I've got to see Cherry! I've got to tell her a lot of things—"

Pearson stopped the car. "All right," he said, "but make it snappy. I won't be able to park here all day, you know."

Dan disappeared into the drug

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Swing

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Jingle and Jangle, with Buster, Custer and a dozen more bunny rabbit children, clustered around their mother, begging:

"What can we do to have some fun?"

"What shall we play, mothers?"

"Could we have a picnic with something to eat?"

"Oh, dear me!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears, who was quite flustered by so many little rabbit boys and girls teasing her. "I shall be glad when the Lady Mouse Teacher opens the Hollow Stump School again. Vacation may be fun for you children but it isn't so much fun for mothers."

"Nor for me, either," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzie, the housekeeper. "The children have been teasing me all morning to make them a swing."

"Ha! That's a good idea!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears. "I'm glad you spoke of it, Nurse Jane. I'll have Wiggly make a swing and that will keep the children quiet and out of the way so we can do our work. Ho, Wiggly! she called. "Where are you, Wiggly?"

"What's the matter? What do you want?" asked Uncle Wiggly, who was taking a little sleep on the side porch before going adventuring.

"Please make the children a swing, Wiggly," said the rabbit gentleman's wife. "Make it out in the woods where they can romp and play and make as much noise as they please. Then we shall have peace and quiet around here. I surely shall be glad when school opens again," murmured the rabbit lady.

"All right, I'll make a swing," said Uncle Wiggly, getting up off the couch, where he had been sleeping. "Come on, little bunnies!"

"Oh, hurry! Hurry! Hurry!" shouted Jingle, Jangle, Tangle, Tanglo, Buster, Custer and all the others. "Daddy's going to make us a swing and we'll have fun!"

Away they hopped to the woods following Uncle Wiggly, who led the way with his pink twinkling nose like a circus parade. It did not take the jolly old rabbit gentleman long to gnaw with his strong teeth a long piece of wild grapevine which was to be the rope of the swing. For a board he found a soft slab of bark so the legs of the small bunny children would not be scratched.

"So far so good!" said Mr. Longears. "When the swing parts were ready. The next thing is to fasten the grapevine rope to some tree branch. That would do," and he pointed to a large oak tree. "But who is to climb up and fasten the rope so it will dingle, dangle and swing?"

"Can't you climb up, Daddies?" asked Jingle.

"No," answered Mr. Longears. "I am a rabbit and not a tree climber. Nor can any of you little rabbits climb trees."

"Once I jumped over a tree," said Dan.

"But it was a very little one," said his brother Custer, who had that name because he was very fond of custard pie. Just as he was about to give the tail after he had broken so many things in the bungalow.

"Well, anyhow, it was a tree," went on Buster. "I was only a little rabbit, then. I'm bigger and stronger now. I could jump over this big tree. Daddies, cum, and carry the grapevine with me."

"No," said his father, "that would not do. We must find some other way of fastening the grapevine rope to the tree branch."

"I think I can do that for you," chattered a new voice, and there came swinging down out of the tree by his tail Jack Kinklytail, the monkey boy.

"Ah, Jacko, you're just the one to help us!" said Uncle Wiggly. "Take the ends of the vine and swing will be made. Here you are, Jacko."

The monkey boy soon scrambled up the tree, for monkeys are very good climbers. Jacko carried in the trunk of his tail the end of the wild grapevine rope and with his nimble paws he soon knotted the ends to the branch so that all Uncle Wiggly needed to do was to put the bark board in the lower loop of the dangle rope and the swing was finished.

"Baby Bunty must have the first swing!" called Jingle, for the others were always kind in this way to the little orphan rabbit.

"No, Bunty must have the first swing. I must have it," said Uncle Wiggly. "I must have the first swing. The rabbit children looked at one another in surprise. What did this mean? Was their Daddies getting selfish? Always before he had given them the best and first of everything. Now he claimed the first swing! What did it mean? I shall tell you in the next story, which will be about Uncle Wiggly and Old Cat. And I do hope the popcorn doesn't make so much noise that it awakens the sleeping porch."

May Narrow Powers Of Irish Senate Soon

Valera's Lieutenants Say He Will Ask People to Amend Constitution of Free State

Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 15.—Steps to curb the powers of the Irish Free State Senate, and possibly to do away with the second chamber entirely, are being contemplated by the Valera government, it has been revealed.

The Senate has lost standing with the administration because it has forced delay in the government's attempt to eliminate the oath of allegiance to the Crown and has opposed other Valera measures.

Defence Minister Frank Aiken, speaking yesterday at Castle Pollard, referred to the holding up of the oath bill and said the government party soon would ask the people to deal with the Senate in a way to prevent it from barring the road to national independence.

Gerald Boland, President of Valera's Parliamentary secretary, declared in a speech at Castlereagh that no one had any use for the Senate and if it continued holding up bills a measure to abolish it would be introduced.

By Thomas Green Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Confirmation of the report the Valera government intends to curb the powers of the Free State Senate was given here to-day. "The Plannia Fall Government is still very mindful of its expressed determination to modify the powers of the Senate," a member of the Irish Free State delegation to the Imperial Conference stated.

The Free State Senate comprises sixty members, included in the body are three women. According to the Free State constitution, the delegate said, the Senate should be composed of those "who have done honor to the nation."

New members are elected for varying periods from three to ten years by members of the Upper and Lower Houses voting together.

William T. Cosgrave, leader of the Cumann na nGaedheal Party, commands a majority in the Senate. Mr. Valera has been able to muster only twenty-one votes on divisions in the Senate since the Free State general election on the bill to eliminate the oath of allegiance from the constitution.

Unlike the Canadian Senate, the Free State's second chamber has no power to veto legislation but can delay bills except money bills, for a period not longer than eighteen months.

Butter, Eggs Up; Potatoes Unchanged

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Butter, cheese and eggs advanced in price on Montreal wholesale markets last week, potatoes held unchanged.

The butter market rose 1½ to 1½ cents per pound ending the week generally at 18½ to 19½ cents per pound for carlots or less of No. 1. There were no butter exports last week, and no more are expected to be made to England this season.

Arrivals of butter last week at Montreal totaled 14,733 boxes. Receipts of butter at Montreal since May 1 now total only 309,029 boxes against 407,041 boxes in the corresponding period last year.

The cheese market advanced ½ to ¾ cents per pound last week. Cheese production, contrary to that of butter, has been greater this year.

The egg market advanced from ½ to 1½ cents, the greatest gains being scored in extras.

TAXES INCREASED

In paying $1,025,779.876 in taxes last year, motorists of the United States paid an increase of 2.5 per cent over the amount of 1930, the American Automobile Association reports. This is in the face of a decline in registrations of 781,478 vehicles.

The Travel Guild tour accounted for sixteen tourists, conducted by Hugh Siddell. The Burlington tour was made up of nineteen people, led by H. E. Jones, and the Chicago and Northwest Railway tour consisted of ten people, with E. G. Disque in charge. While in the city the tourists were guests at the Empress Hotel.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The funeral of Dr. Henry George who passed away in this city on Saturday, will take place tomorrow morning, proceeding from McCall Bros. Funeral Home to St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, where service will be held at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. J. J. Armistead will officiate. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

NEWS IN BRIEF

W. J. Spry of Montreal, an official of the Royal Bank of Canada, arrived at the Empress Hotel from the east on Sunday, leaving the city this afternoon for Seattle.

Court Vancouver No. 3753, A.O.F., will, at the termination of business at their meeting this evening, entertain the Vancouver Island district officers and delegates who are in attendance in the city at the sixteenth annual convention in the Foresters' Hall, Cormorant Street.

Charged with selling opium, Chan Don, Chinese, was arraigned before Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning and remanded to Saturday without plea. Corporal Berger and Constable Hayward of the B.C.M.P. made the arrest yesterday evening.

The regular meeting of the Saanich branch of the National Association of Workmen will be held in the Workers' Hall, Burnside Road and Wascana Street, on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Comrade Leslie of Vancouver will address the meeting on organization work and the steps to be taken for the protection of the unemployed workers.

Major Dalziel, the newly-appointed Salvation Army divisional commander for southern British Columbia, with residence at Vancouver, will preside at the public meeting held in the citadel this evening at 8 o'clock. City officers will assist and the band and songster brigade will be in attendance. Ronald Frewing, leader of the chum brigade, the junior organization of the life-saving movement, will speak.

Advices received on Saturday by Hon. R. W. Bruhn from Ottawa stated that Bursary may be permitted to proceed with the balance of its present relief work allocation without being held responsible for its prearranged share of the cost of such extension. Sewer and road work programmes to the extent of $38,000 may be carried to completion under the new arrangement. Adjustment of the cost as to what proportion each will bear will be made by the provincial and Dominion governments.

September 3 to 10 will be British Columbia Lamb Week, a period set aside annually to enable housewives to buy the best local lamb at the most favorable prices of the year and to stimulate the industry in all its ramifications. Last year, observance of the week netted $55,000 for B.C. producers and proved a boon to the industry at a time when supply was large and prices weak. All those in any way connected with the producing and marketing of the lamb trade, as well as the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, will co-operate in the scheme this year, according to Dr. W. R. Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner.

British Columbia goats are in demand in the east. It was learned at the Parliament Buildings today that twenty goats were shipped to Nova Scotia, and the Department of Agriculture has been notified that orders are being received for further shipments. A few days ago Mrs. M. R. May of Cobble Hill, shipped a purebred Toggenburg buck to K. J. McCull, St. Williams, Ont., and has received inquiries from other Ontario fanciers whose attention has been drawn to the splendid record of goats raised in this province.

Word has been received at the Parliament Buildings that the world's grain harvest has been definitely set to meet at Regina next year. Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, has sent out notices to all provincial departments advising them to this effect. British Columbia will participate, according to departmental officials today, sending exhibits of grain and seed, while farmers of the province will show in competitive classes. There are fifty-four classes of grain and seed exhibits scheduled to be on exhibition, and British Columbia will be enabled to enter in nearly all of them. This province also will send an exhibit of livestock for entry in the livestock exhibition to be held in conjunction with the Regina Agricultural Fair.

Frank Paulding, the recently appointed secretary of the Y.M.C.A. here, has returned to Victoria after visiting in New Westminster, from which city he has been transferred. Mr. Paulding will take up his residence at 360 Poul Bay Road. Mr. Paulding said farewell to his associates of the New Westminster "Y" at a banquet given in his honor in the Canadian Legion Hall. He was also the recipient of a token denoting the esteem in which his twelve years' service is held. During his stay Mr. Paulding also received from the New Westminster Kiwanis Club a framed illuminated address, expressive of the Kiwanis' appreciation of his valued services to the club, as past president, secretary and executive member, and also recognizing his contribution to community service as "Y" secretary.

The Smith's Prize was won by him in 1891, and the following year he was elected a Fellow of Trinity College and an "Isaac Newton" student.

At this time he was doing advanced, theoretical work in astronomy and in 1894 was appointed chief assistant at the Greenwich Observatory. In 1897, in conjunction with Mr. H. Holles, Sir Frank definitely determined the longitude of Paris for the first time. In 1905 Sir Frank Dyson was appointed Astronomer-Royal for Scotland, and during his term of office published many learned papers.

BUBBLE IDEA OF UNIVERSE IS CHALLENGED

Oxford Professor Takes Issue With Ever-expanding Conception of Einstein

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times—London.—The conception of the universe as an ever-expanding bubble, which is held by Professor Einstein and other scientists, has been challenged by Professor Arthur Milne, a fellow of mathematics at Oxford, and an authority on mathematical astronomy.

Professor Milne declares that there is no need to suppose that the universe itself is expanding or that it resembles, as Sir James Jeans has suggested, a stick moving downwards from its position of equilibrium with ever greater speed.

Professor Milne's explanation, which is published in "Nature," is obtained by considering what would happen to a large number of particles, the elements of the universe, moving freely at relatively great distances from each other.

He shows on the most elementary principles, excluding such complications as even the simplest theory of relativity, that the space occupied by the particles would after a certain time continuously expand without limit.

An important advantage of his theory, Professor Milne points out, is that it explains why the universe is expanding, whereas the accepted theory is unable to provide any explanation other than mere chance, why the initial move was in the direction of expansion rather than contraction.

"The explanation," adds Professor Milne, "abandons the intricate scheme of the expansion of space, and regards the observed motion of the distant nebulae as space itself moving in Euclidean space (space before Einstein)."

"We may say that creation and unidirectional evolution (expansion rather than contraction) are brought into a single mathematical scheme. The start would be the consideration of formless matter to form the initial particles, and the rest would follow."

WITH THE BOYS' SCOUTS

The third Victoria (St. Barnabas) troop are having their annual camp at the Victoria district camp, Burnside Bay, Salt Spring Island. There are twenty-eight boys from the Third Victoria troop, which is divided into four patrols. They are the Lions, Owls, Ravens and Wolves. The whole camp consists of six different troops, divided into sixteen patrols in all. Each day three patrols are given out to the three best patrols. On the first day most of the work was done, such as building tables, benches, kitchens, and putting up the tents. On the second day the patrols competed in various games. In the first week at camp the Third Victoria troop have received four firsts out of six, three seconds out of six, one third out of six, in pennants awarded each night at the camp fire for points given in the morning at inspection. The Owls of the Third Victoria troop got the first pennant, and the Wolves got the second. In the first week at camp the Lions patrol captured two pennants for first and one for second. The Ravens received two pennants for first and one for second, and the Beavers one third. Each day the boys are given some time for making gadgets which count towards the winning of the pennants. Some very useful gadgets have been made, such as candle holders, hat racks, coat hangers and clothes lines. On Monday the Third Victoria troop played the First Langford troop in a game of baseball, and the Third Victoria won, the score being 11 to 4. On Wednesday the same troops played a very close game of football, the score being 3 to 2 in favor of the third. The same troops played another game of baseball on Thursday, the score was 14 to 5, again in favor of the Third Victoria troop. Each evening a camp fire is held where each patrol puts on a play or sings a song, and Capt. Hunter tells the boys some splendid yarns. At the closing of the camp fire, coconuts and biscuits are handed around, and so the boys go to bed.

THEFT CASE TO PROCEED

Magistrate Fails to Allow Quash Move in Car Charge

Magistrate George Jay, in the City Police Court this morning, refused to allow withdrawal of a charge of car theft against Anthony Easton on an application which had the sanction of the Attorney-General's department. The magistrate termed the suggested course "extraordinary procedure," which would set a dangerous precedent, and he ruled that the evidence should be submitted to him before he decided if there was a case to meet.

The circumstances of the case, as outlined by counsel, were that Mr. Easton had been found in possession of a car by a patrol constable. When brought to police headquarters, it was discovered the car had been reported stolen from in front of the Capitol Theatre, and a charge was laid accordingly.

C. H. O'Halloran, defence counsel, told the magistrate the car belonged to the partner of a close friend of the accused's family, and that the owner could not have laid the charge if he had known the identity of the accused. When this was discovered representations were made to the Attorney-General's department to allow the charge to be withdrawn. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, read a letter from Deputy Attorney-General Oscar Bass, stating that after hearing the circumstances the Attorney-General was agreeable to the charge being halted.

BOYS BRING BACK OARSMEN'S CUP

Victoria Crew Returns From Kelowna; Complains of Fraser Canyon Highway

Carrying with them the Knowles Cup, emblematic of the senior four-oared lapstreak championship of Okanagan Lake, which they won at the Kelowna regatta last week, the Victoria crew, consisting of C. Usher, J. Mann and R. Wratlen, returned to Victoria at the week-end. The members of the crew also had individual small cups.

During the trip over from the mainland on the ferry steamer, the Knowles Cup, because of its historic value, was safeguarded in the purser's vault.

The boys made the trip from Victoria to Kelowna in a small car. They took turns driving. The back of the car was fitted up as a bed, where a couple slept while the others occupied the front seat and carried on the driving. They were able in this way to keep their car on the move night and day. They used one of the standard shells belonging to the Kelowna Rowing Club, but they took with them their own. The crew were in a hurry to get to the top of the car. They made the trip up-country by way of Seattle and Wenatchee, and made fast time because of the good roads. ## ROCKET TRIPS TO PLANETS SOON EDITOR ASSERTS

Scientific Magazine Publisher Tells London of Coming Possibilities

(By Reuter's) London.—Hugo Gernsback, the proprietor of a number of magazines which have popularized science in America, is at present in London and has been telling reporters of the scientific wonders which he thinks the world will probably see in the not so very distant future.

"The age of the 'rocket' aeroplane," he said to a Daily Express representative, "is only the beginning of a series of discoveries which will produce an incredible number of heat calories in proportion to its weight, and it will spring into existence almost overnight. Perhaps the solution will be found through the unlocking of the energy of the atom."

"With the discovery of the solar giant rockets carrying wireless television sets of ultra-short wavelengths will be sent to the moon, Mars, Venus and other planets, which will send us back visible and audible messages and give us conditions on these planets."

"I look forward to a regular passenger service between the planets in fifty years; interplanetary wireless and television communication as dependable as the present-day broadcasting service between continents, within sixty years; and in about 100 years the colonization of habitable planets, preparing a way for the earth's inhabitants when our planet becomes overpopulated."

Mr. Gernsback certainly has expansive ideas!

Queer Inventions Now Ruled Out By New Patent Law

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times—London.—The bill recently before Parliament to give the Comptroller-General of the Patent Office power to refuse to grant patents for inventions which are obviously of a frivolous nature or which serve no useful purpose will, it is hoped, check many of the misguided inventors who have made life difficult for officials of the Patent Office in recent years.

These are some of the strange devices, particulars of which are filed within the austere-official walls: Patent false teeth, foot-arch supports, a "cooter" adapted to produce the sensation of flying, a piano-graphophone-wireless-cinema projector all in one instrument, and a preparation to insure a permanent froth on beer.

It is a curious fact that more inventions are registered in time when business is bad than when business is good. The reason probably is that it is only in times of trade depression that business men have time to think out new devices. During the past ten years the peak year for patents was 1929-1930, when 39,359 applications for patents were lodged.

Will Suzanne Return as Amateur?

(By Reuter's) London.—Will Suzanne Lenglen become an amateur again? Technically, there is no reason why she should not if she so wishes. Article 37 of the statutes of the French Lawn Tennis Federation enacts that a professional who desires to become an amateur or to resume amateur status, must address a request to the Council of the Federation, which has to take a decision in conformity with the statutes, and a favorable verdict must be upheld by at least three-quarters of the members. Such a request can only be formulated if for the past five years the erstwhile professional has completely abandoned all professional activities. If after reinstatement he or she should again perform any act of professionalism, the player is struck forever off the amateur roll.

There is no clause in the statutes demanding reimbursement by a player of sums earned as a professional. M. Paul Peret, whose case was an exceptional one, made a point of reimbursing his earnings in America, and the sums thus handed over to the federation were distributed among different charities. Such an action, however, is not obligatory.

As far as Mlle. Lenglen is concerned, the Council of the Federation would have to decide at exactly what date she ceased to undertake any professional activities.

Wheat Up One Cent From Saturday Close; Outside Influence

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—Influenced by stronger wheat values at Liverpool and an improved statistical position, wheat climbed to higher levels here to-day. Quite strong throughout, values closed an even cent higher than Saturday's finish. Closing prices were: October, 59½; December, 60½ and May at 65½.

Little actual export business could be traced to the pit operations, but there appeared to be moderately good support of another kind and offerings were readily absorbed. At the high levels wheat showed gains of 1½ cents.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan &amp; Bryan)

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—Wheat: With strong cables, an absence of any selling pressure, with no hedging sales in evidence, the wheat market took on a firm tone to-day with prices advancing about 1½¢ from the close on Saturday. Trade volume was very thin with nothing of feature going on. All the export sales that could be confirmed out of this market were less than 100,000 bushels, and while seaboard exporters may have done some business, there was no evidence of it here, and advice from seaboard were to the effect that only a small scattered business in Manitoba has been done with nothing in American varieties.

The chief feature of this market was the light offerings. There was some short covering, one line of 200,000 bushels being taken, it was generally believed, while there was some buying of October against sales of May. Local sentiment appears to be friendly for a turn, and locals were taking on a little. Liverpool closed 1½¢ higher and cables stated that the Liverpool "crowd" were covering "due" to nervousness based on the small world shipments and the continued decrease in on passage supplies, which are now down to 24,504,000 bushels vs. 47,122,000 bushels year ago.

In the cash market there was very little doing owing to the tightness in which all stocks are held. There was a good demand, but practically nothing was coming over "due" to the fact that spreads were boosted ¼¢ to ½¢ from the close on Saturday.

The weather is almost perfect in Canada for harvesting operations and maturing the crops later. Threshing operations and crop movement should increase from now on. Country marketings on Saturday were 385,000 bushels vs. 231,000 bushels year ago. Harvesting was somewhat checked last week by numerous showers. Crop news from Europe is rather bearish, although immediate statistical figures are bullish. The Canadian visible supply decreased 6,130,000 bushels, while the U.S. visible increased 1,543,000 bushels.

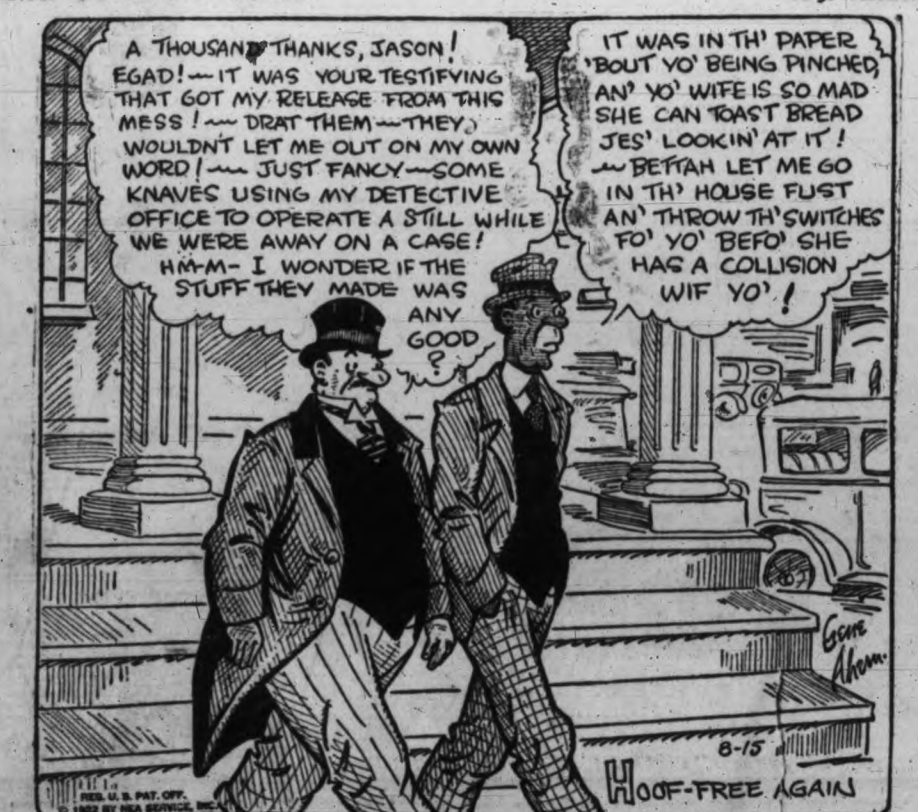

Winnipeg futures closed 1 to 1½ higher.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

STRONG CLOSE AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL

(By Logan &amp; Bryan)

Montreal, Aug. 15.—A strong tone prevailed on the Montreal stock market at the close to-day. The list generally was fractionally higher. Volume was light.

Consolidated Smelters featured the day with an advance of 3½ points to 71½. Canadian Pacific was up 1½ at 16½ at the close. International Nickel was firmer at 9½, up ½, and Shawinigan Power gained ½ at 15.

Montreal Power was fairly active, closing at 34 for a gain of ½. Other findings prices included: Canadian Traction, off ½ at 10½; Bell Telephone, up 2 at 94; B.C. Power, off ½ at 21½; National Breweries, off ½ at 16; Dominion Bridge, up ½ at 18½; and Howard Smith, up ½ at 18½.

Royal Bank closed at 166, unchanged.

Higher-priced golds were quiet, with Wright-Hargreaves down five, and Dome, Teck-Hughes and Granada trying to improve their positions. However, lower-priced features dropped four under selling pressure and Northern Canada and Ashoka lost some ground. San Antonio, Kirkland Lake Gold and Algonquin made small gains. Peninsular Petroleum met some liquidation and finished a cent lower in a quiet oil section. Acme Gas firmed a cent in a few sales.

and gains were stubbornly held in the closing minutes when more wheat came out.

A further drop of 2,500,000 bushels in supplies of wheat on ocean passage to Europe saw wheat in this position decrease to 24,504,000 bushels, or about half the amount afloat this time a year ago.

Making a Success of Marriage Is a Two-Handed Job—Unhappy Homes, Lack of Success in Business, Divorces, Wayward Children—These Are the Price of Failure of Husband and Wives to Co-operate

THE MOST important thing in domestic life is co-operation between husband and wife. Making a success of marriage is a two-handed job that requires the united efforts of both a man and a woman to pull off, and either one can accomplish it working alone.

No woman can make a happy home, though she grins like a Cheshire cat and cooks like an angel and is meek and more humble than Patient Griselda, if the man of the house is a rascal or a sulker or a knocker or one who passes into the silence when anything displeases him and if the mere sound of his key in the lock sends the temperature down to zero and hushes the children's prattle and makes the dog beat it for the cellar.

Nor can any man make a happy home if he provides his family with a mansion to live in and French finery to wear and imported cars to ride in and if he works himself to death to gratify his wife's and children's every wish, if he is married to a woman who is peevish and fretful and whining and complaining and nagging and who is always picking on him and the children and wondering why he isn't as handsome as Ramon Novarro and as romantic as Clark Gable and doesn't make as much money as Mr. Ford.

But when a husband and a wife work together to make a happy home; when they treat each other with affection and consideration and tenderness; when they are more tactful in dealing with each other than they would be with strangers; when they give the very best that is in them to each other, then they establish the sort of home that is a Paradise on earth.

We all know the value of teamwork. We know that the winning of a game depends not so much on the brilliancy of any one player as upon the teamwork of all of the players. We know that the success of a business depends upon the whole organization working harmoniously together to a common end. But we fail, curiously enough, to appreciate the value of a teamwork in family life.

Half the homes you go into are battlegrounds in which a perpetual civil warfare goes on. The husband and wife are totally at variance with each other, with different aims, aspirations and desires, and each apparently bent on thwarting the other. There is no working for the common good. No merging of tastes and interests. No realization that after all a husband and wife are one, and that they must stand or fall together.

And the terrible thing about this lack of teamwork is that it is so fatally easy for either a husband or wife to nullify all of the other's efforts and that each is so helpless to protect himself or herself against the other.

How often, for instance, do we see a woman stand in the way of her husband's success? A poor but ambitious and energetic young man has got his foot on the first round of the ladder. He has shown that he is a go-getter and every one prophesies great things for him, but he marries and that is the end of him. He just fizzles out into nothingness.

And the reason of it is that his wife would not do teamwork with him. She pulled against him instead of with him and so they got nowhere. Perhaps she was extravagant and kept him always in debt with her bills. Perhaps she killed his faith in himself by her lack of belief in him and her croakings against everything he wanted to undertake. Perhaps she wouldn't leave mother and the girls and her bridge clubs and Main Street to go with him where fortune called, and so she kept him tied down to a small job in which there was no future.

Millions of women have ruined their husbands by refusing to co-operate with them, just as millions of other women have helped make their husbands by doing teamwork with them. Many of the big fortunes of to-day were started by women who lived over stores and served behind counters and stayed up at night washing their husbands' shirts so that they might make a neat appearance the next day. Many of the men who sit in high places are their elevation just as much to their wives' boosting as they do to their own talents. For it is literally true that you can't keep a good man down when he is spurred on by his wife's ambitions and pride in him, and when she pours into his career all of her feminine powers and intuitions.

The worst effect, however, of the lack of teamwork in families manifests itself in the rearing of the children. It is ruinous for them, because it results in an utter lack of discipline and it kills the children's respect for both parents.

Yet there are comparatively few households in which the father and mother agree upon any plan of bringing up their children. When father is cross he thinks the children should be spanked and made to behave. When he is in good humor he says: "Oh, let the little things alone. They'll come out all right," when mother wants to punish them for misbehavior. Father thinks that boys should be taught to be independent, and mother wants to hold them by the hand. Mother thinks the girls should have dates. Father thinks they shouldn't. And so it goes. And the clever youngsters soon find out that they can play one parent off against the other and get away with anything short of murder.

Whenever you hear parents complain that they have no control over their children and can do nothing with their wild sons and daughters, you may be sure that it is because they never co-operated with each other in bringing them up, but fought over everything from the time of putting the baby to bed to buying them a sport car and sending them to college.

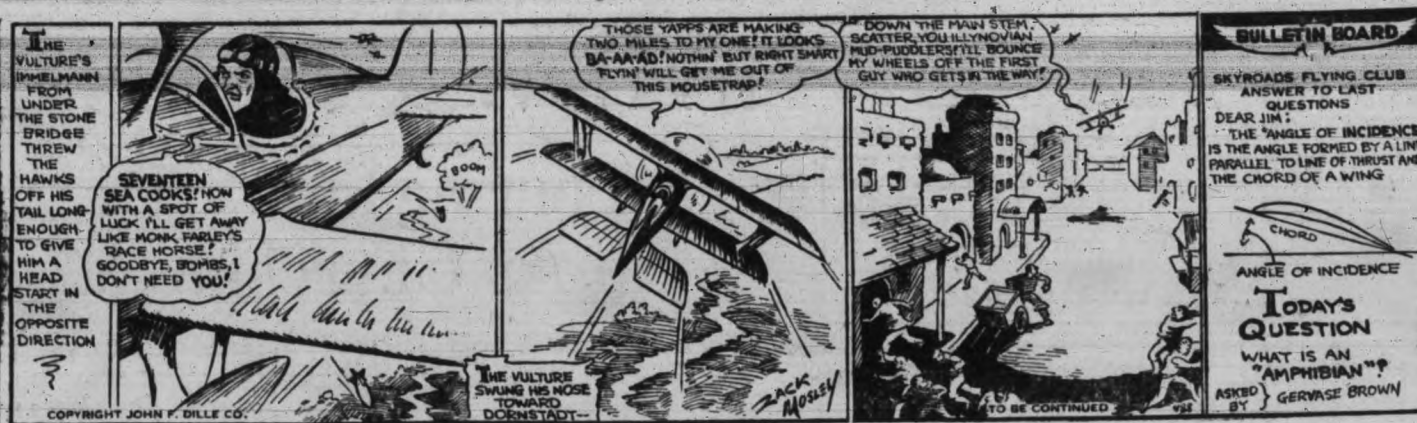

Unhappy homes. Lack of success in business. Divorces. Wayward children—these are the price of the lack of teamwork between husbands and wives. For a house divided against itself shall fall. DOROTHY DIX. Copyright by Public Ledger saurs had teeth fitted for grinding and must have lived on plant food, but the Tyrant Dinosaur was surely a flesh-eater.

"Were there any people alive when the Tyrant Lizards were alive?" queried Roberta.
"No, indeed. The dinosaur family died out long before there were people on earth."

XXI—A TYRANT LIZARD

Great pains were taken by Dr. Barstow and Mr. Weston when they gathered the dinosaur bones. Photographs were made of many skeletons before the bones were picked up. The bones were numbered and classified. It was a long task, the work of careful scientists.

"Now for a picture," said Mr. Barstow. The skeletons were not found in the shape we see them in museums, and this disappointed Allen and Roberta. Dr. Barstow explained to them methods used in putting the bones together after they reached the museum. One day Dr. Barstow and Mr. Weston came upon the remains of a Tyrant Lizard.

"Three cheers!" exclaimed Mr. Weston as he took out his notebook and made ready to take notes on the position of the skeleton when found, as well as other details. "This will be a fine exhibit when we get it to the museum."
"Now for a picture," said Dr. Barstow, making ready to snap a picture with his camera.
Allen and Roberta came to join them.

"What kind of an animal did this skull belong to?" asked Allen when he caught sight of a heavy skull, far larger than the skull of a horse.

"To a Tyrant Lizard," replied Dr. Barstow. "Notice those long sharp teeth."

A few moments later, Roberta turned to Mr. Weston and said:
"Uncle Tim, will you tell us something more about the Tyrant Lizard?"
"They were big fellows," he replied, "not so large as some of the other dinosaurs but more fierce. They ran around on their hind legs. We can tell that by the shape of their leg bones, and by the tracks they left. Their front legs were very short compared to their hind legs. Their long heavy tails kept them balanced when they ran around."

"How tall were they?"
"Some of them must have stood more than fifteen feet high. They ate the flesh of other dinosaurs—how do you suppose we know that?"
"Was it by the shape of their teeth?" asked Allen.
"Yes, their teeth were fitted for tearing flesh. Other kinds of din-

COWBOY LASSEOS SKIPPER AT SEA

By Reuter
London.—Using a trick of the western plains, a ship's mate lassoed a skipper on the high seas and pulled him to safety from his sinking ship. Skipper Myer of the Ramsgate trawler Mary Evelyn (forty tons), was clinging to the wreckage of his craft after it had been badly damaged in a collision, when he felt a rope whirl over his head and settle around his shoulders. A moment later he was jerked from the sinking fishing vessel and tumbled to safety.

Grain Pouring Into Ship At Churchill

French Steamer Sierentz First of Season's Vessels to Load at New Northern Port

Entire Population of Churchill Lines Rocky Shores to Welcome Big Freighter

Churchill, Man., Aug. 15.—Canada's most northerly port to-day displayed an "open for business" sign. Grain from wheat fields of the prairies poured into the holds of the steamer Sierentz, which arrived Sunday, while carloads of flour and other products were speeding over the Muskogee Line to supply further cargoes for five other vessels Churchill-bound for cargo.

The grain elevator, grain galleries and buildings grouped along the long dock were hives of activity early to-day as loading of the Sierentz got under way. She will carry 280,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern wheat to a destination as yet unannounced. Whistles and sirens, those time-honored ceremonial aids to navigation opening across the Dominion, were silent yesterday as the French steamer slowly churned her way to the waiting dock. An official welcoming party on board the tug Gullam Bell met the steamer in the straits and brought her quickly to the wharf.

MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS HERE

Jameson's Electrical Ltd. Open More Spacious Store at 717 Fort Street

Jameson's Electrical Limited, a subsidiary of the Jameson Motors Limited, moved to their new location at 717 Fort Street on Saturday and officially opened for business to-day. It is proof of the growth and sagacious handling of the business that the comparatively young firm should be forced to seek more spacious quarters. The business was established last March to specialize in the sales and servicing of General Electric domestic appliances. Acting as president of Jameson's Electrical Limited is R. J. Jameson, a pioneer in the electrical and supply business in Victoria. Mr. Jameson started in the electrical business in Victoria about 1898. A staff of qualified electrical specialists are employed by the firm who work under the direction of G. R. McDonald. Mr. McDonald, who acts as sales manager, has held many important posts during the last fifteen years and at one time was sales campaign manager for the B.C. Electric Company in Vancouver.

Realizing the need for a first-class sales and servicing department in every district of the Canadian General Electric recently inaugurated a policy whereby representatives were appointed in each district who would deal with General Electric products exclusively.

Previously to their move Jameson's Electrical Limited was located in the same building on Broughton Street as the Jameson's Motors. That a move to larger quarters would have to be made soon was early evidenced. After much careful thought and consideration the new position was decided upon as allowing better facilities for display and also being more centrally located.

SHIP FOUGHT FURIOUS GALE

Sailmaker Died on Board Swedish Vessel During Height of Storm

Ipswich, England, Aug. 15.—Towed into Ipswich harbor recently after a voyage that proved almost disastrous, the four-masted Swedish vessel C. B. Pederson arrived from South America, crippled but not incapable. In mid-Pacific the wind jammer encountered the worst storm in her career and was so crippled that she was forced to crawl to the Panama Canal instead of taking the Cape Horn route.

During the gale the chain halyard of the mainmast snapped, sending the two-ton upper topmast crashing fifteen feet on to the lower topmast yard. Both tore through the rigging to the main yard. The hands had left the rigging barely minutes earlier. After two weeks of buffeting, the C. B. Pederson reached Panama with only her royal topmast and mainmast.

"In fourteen years at sea I have never seen such a storm," the wireless operator said. Day and night the forty-six-year-old skipper, Captain H. Dahlstrom, was on deck. At the height of the storm, with twelve sails blown away, the sixty-three-year-old sailmaker died. This was the crowning misfortune.

The Pederson is the first sailing ship to pass through the Panama Canal from Australia to England. Despite the short cut, the voyage to Ipswich took 123 days.

GIRL STOWAWAYS MADE ATLANTIC ROUND TRIP

New York, Aug. 15.—Two seventeen-year-old girls who stowed away three weeks ago on board the Anchor liner Tuscania returned yesterday in the same vessel after seeing Scotland from the upper window of a detention house in Glasgow, where they had to spend five days while the steamship was in port.

The girls said they were members of a party of young people who boarded the Tuscania at her pier to see off a friend. The girls were discovered by the gun gang and stewards shortly after the ship had left. "Last call for the shore!" they thought it would be good fun to hide away and stow away. The girls were taken to the detention house and the girls said they thought she was going to call.

After the pilot had been dropped at the Ambrose Lightship station, the girls were taken to the detention house and the girls said they thought she was going to call.

WILL LAUNCH NEW ESSEL

Ss. Washington, Sister-ship to Manhattan, Will Slide Down Ways on Saturday

New York, Aug. 15.—The new United States liner Washington, sister ship of the Manhattan, will be launched at Camden, N.J., on Saturday and will be christened by Mrs. T. V. O'Connor, wife of the chairman of the United States Shipping Board.

The Washington and her sister vessel were contracted for by the United States Lines in May, 1930, at a cost of more than $10,000,000 each. This cost is allotted at $9,515,000 for construction and a separate expense of $750,000 for furnishings not contained in the regular contract.

The Washington is 705 feet long and has a beam of eighty-six feet. Her owners and builders are confident that "even though the Manhattan is considered a perfect ship, the Washington will be even superior in her minor improvements over the first liner were made before construction progressed very far."

The contracts for these two vessels, the first Atlantic liners built in this country in thirty-five years and the fastest ships of this type afloat, were let by the line to be controlled by Paul W. Chapman. When the company was taken over by the Roosevelt-IMM group some of the plans for the Washington were altered and she will have many features not on the Manhattan.

The Washington will have accommodations for 1,250 passengers and is expected to join the Manhattan in the New York-Hamburg service early in May, 1933. The ports of call in this service are Cobb, Plymouth and Havre, each bound and Havre, Southampton and Cobb westbound.

AWAITS ORDERS

The British freighter Dalclair dropped anchor off the William Head quarantine station this morning shortly before 1 o'clock and was still there early this afternoon awaiting orders. She will load at some port in the northwest. The Dalclair is a company's new ship, having been built at Greenock in 1927. She is registered at 4,608 tons, has a length of 406 feet, a breadth of fifty-four feet and a depth of twenty-four feet. She is operated by the United States Navigation Company and is registered at Newcastle.

OUT WEDNESDAY

Outbound to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney, the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, Capt. T. V. Hill, will be back in Victoria on her way from Vancouver to sea.
